Rusk Questioned Regarding Views On U. S. Defenses

Said to Favor Conventional Forces in Change of Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of State Dean Rusk was questioned behind closed doors of the senate foreign relations committee today on reports he favors a shift from a policy of "massive retaliation" to a big build up of conventional forces.

Rusk declined to discuss his views with newsmen in advance of his testimony. He told a reporter he probably would issue a statement on the situation from the State Department later in the day.

Ready for Attacks

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., posing with Rusk for pictures before the committee session, had clippings of a story in yesterday's Washington Evening Star which reported Rusk favors a shift in emphasis.

The buildup by the United States and its allies is said to be favored by Rusk to meet the danger of brushfire war and lessen the risk of a nuclear conflict. Conventional forces would be used to combat any Communist military aggression that might be staved off without use of nuclear weapons.

'Massive retaliation," as enunciated by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, would put primary reliance on nuclear weapons as means of combatting Communist aggression.

Rusk's views were given in a secret paper to Secretary of De-

Rebel Threat Appears to Be Easing

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The central Congo government today signed a military pact with independent Katanga and the Kasai mining state for a united front against the leftist rebels. But a rebel threat to this capital seemed to be evaporating.

As the pact was signed in Katanga President Moise Tshombe's capital of Elisabethville, the United Nations reported that leftist rebels had pulled out of the Kasai provincial capital of Luluabourg while their spearhead at the frontier of Leopoldville Province had vanished.

Federation Possible

The pact among the three frequently feuding regimes could lead to a political federation capable of challenging the Communist-backed regime of Antoine Gizenga, the dead Patrice Lumumba's political heir, in Stanleyville.

Premier Joseph Ileo, sent by President Joseph Kasavubu to Elisabethville to seek Tshombe's help, signed for the Leopoldville government. President Albert Kalonji esigned for his independent mining state of Kasai Province. Tshombe signed for Katanga.

One clause of the agreement said the signatories "are determined to solve their problems themselves and will not accept any outside intervention."

Kasavubu had a private talk with G. Mennen Williams, touring U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs. He was

Army Captain Shot to Death In Havana

Dead Man Described As Bodyguard for Economic Official

HAVANA (AP) — An army captain described as a close friend and bodyguard to Ernesto Guevara was killed Monday in a street shooting a block from the Cuban economic chief's house.

Whether the shooting was part of an attempt to assassinate Guevara himself was not clear. The government denied it was, although newspapers and radio stations were ordered to suppress the story for hours.

Guevara, 32, appeared unruffled at his installation as Minister of Industries several hours after the shooting.

Official Version

The dead man was identified as Capt. Hector Salinas. The first official version, issued by the Military Investigation Department, conformed in part with versions given by unofficial informants.

A department spokesman said Salinas noticed Pedro Delgado Duarte, 21, of Las Villas Province, loitering near Guevara's Miramar residence. The spokesman said Salinas became suspicious, asked the youth for his papers and the youth pulled out his gun and fired. Salinas fired back and gravely wounded the youth before falling dead.

The youth was reported to have been shot in both hips and taken to a military hospital for questioning.

Against Cut Next July in Gasoline Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today proposed a tax formula for financing superhighways by placing a greater share of the burden on big trucks.

The President, in a 3,500-word special message to Congress, said his pay-as-you-go plan would complete 41,000 miles of express roads by 1972 without resort to a higher federal gasoline tax.

However, he said Congress should not permit a scheduled June 30 reduction in the gas tax from 4 cents a gallon to 3 cents. And he added that if his proposals for heavier levies on trucks are rejected, Congress should be prepared to increase gasoline taxes on all users.

More Taxes On Trucks

Kennedy's plan would boost taxes and fees on heavy trucks, diesel fuel, tires, tubes and retread rubber. While truckers would bear the brunt of these, Kennedy said even so they would not pay "their fair share of the cost of this program."

The President also made some sharp comments about roadside billboards, which he said "tend to detract from both the beauty and safety of the routes they line."

Kennedy said the states should be given a bigger incentive to regulate billboards. If that doesn't

Gets 6 Years on Charges of Fraud

MADISON (AP)—Clark L. Fry, 69, of Necedah, today was sentenced to six years in prison and fined $5,000 on charges of defrauding investors in the promotion of his inventions.

U.S. District Judge Patrick T. Stone refused a defense motion to reduce Fry's $10,000 bail but granted a 30-day postponement of the penalty to allow an appeal.

To defense attorney Willard Stafford's plea that the court take into consideration Fry's age and poor health, Judge Stone said, "Certainly he's old, he was a young swindler and now he is an old swindler and he has been heartless in victimizing people." Judge Stone said he was not entitled to any consideration.

Fry was convicted Jan. 23 on 6 of 10 counts in a federal indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud in obtaining money to promote his alleged inventions.

The maximum penalty on the charges would have been 30 years in jail and $30,000 in fines.

China Bargains For More Wheat

HONG KONG (AP)— Communist China is negotiating with Australia and Canada for additional shipments of wheat to supplement a purchase of 2.3 million tons that started flowing across the Pacific last month.

The Chinese are trying to keep the deals quiet and no official details are available on the negotiations, but the Australians apparently are close to a second major deal with Peiping. The price appears to be the major problem.

Alleged Killer of Girl Captured

TOMS RIVER, N. J. (AP) — New Jersey State Police said today they have captured the alleged killer of 4-year-old Edith Kiecorius.

A state police spokesman said a man using the name of Fred Thompson was picked up at a chicken farm near Lakehurst when he applied for a job.

Living Costs Ease During January

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs declined slightly in January—the first drop in 12 months.

The bureau of labor statistics reported today its consumers price index dropped by 1/10 of 1 per cent because of lower prices for clothing, used cars, eggs, milk, fresh fruits and tomatoes.

The index fell to 127.4 from December's record level of 127.5. In the index, 100 represents average prices in 1947-49.

Despite the drop from December, January prices were 1.6 per cent higher than in January, 1960. The index rose in every month last year except August, when it held steady.

Because prices did not rise in January, there will be no change in wages of about one million workers in the auto industry and related fields whose pay is adjusted to the living cost index.

Some Get Boosts

However, about 61,000 Caterpillar Tractor Co., employes will get a wage increase of 1 cent an hour on the basis of index changes over several months and some truckers in Virginia and the Carolinas will get an increase of 2 cents an hour.

For 12,000 Chicago transit workers, a drop in the bureau's separate price index for that city will mean a pay cut of ½ cent an hour.

Robert J. Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, attributed much of the January price drop to weather conditions, although adding that a recession decline in demand doubtless had some effect.

Myers said the weather curtailed clothing sales in December and that department stores, because of large January inventories, offered sharp price reductions in women's suits and coats. There

Wife, Stepson of Murder Suspect Reported Missing

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — Texas authorities widened their hunt today for Oscar A. Kernohan, AWOL from Ft. Knox, Ky., and charged last night with murder in the death of an Arkansas man.

In San Antonio, Tex., where he is charged with passing bad checks, officers have a pickup order out for Kernohan in an attempt to question him on the disappearance of his wife and stepson.

The body of Norman Cox, 20, of Benton, Ark., was found by a hitchhiker Saturday in a culvert a mile east of the Davis mountains.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Gary Ingram, who filed the murder charges against Kernohan, said a wallet with Cox' identification papers were found in Kernohan's auto, abandoned Dec. 20 in Van Horn, Tex., after an accident.

Kernohan, seriously injured in the accident, disappeared after his release from an El Paso hospital. He and his wife and her 2½-year-old son by a former marriage had left San Antonio the day of the accident.

Clothing and unopened Christmas presents were left behind, and the woman and boy have not been heard from since. San Antonio police said the woman's three other children by a previous marriage are with her mother in Whitehall, N.Y.

$18,000 in Gems Taken in Burglary At Shawano Store

SHAWANO (AP) — Two cases of jewelry valued at $18,000 disappeared Monday night from a store here.

Police Chief Harold Pingel said, "It looks like the work of a professional burglar who knew the activities of the salesman."

The cases, containing rings, bracelets and gems, were the property of Louis H. Goldberg of Milwaukee. He had called at the Runge Jewelry Store and left the cases in the shop overnight, planning to complete his business today.

When Herbert Runge, operator of the store, returned for his usual check at 11 p.m. he found the front door had been forced open. Only the cases were missing.

Political Moves Hit

Kasavubu Given Warning by U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold warned Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu today that the United Nations will no longer permit its peace efforts to be blocked by political opposition.

In a letter to Kasavubu, Hammarskjold called for full cooperation of the Leopoldville government in averting a civil war. He added that the United Nations has the strength and the determination to carry out its mission without such cooperation, if necessary.

"Those engaged in these measures on behalf of the United Nations cannot allow themselves to be forcibly deterred from carrying them out," he said.

Report to Council

The letter to Kasavubu was part of a report Hammarskjold made to the Security Council on steps he is taking to carry out last week's resolution authorizing use of U. N. force if needed to preserve order in the Congo. The Soviet Union has been pressing for a report.

The secretary-general took Kasavubu to task for his criticism of the United Nations.

He said the desire of the United Nations to take into account the views of Congolese leaders "cannot be permitted to hamper effective efforts to prevent developments toward civil war."

He said reconciliation on a nationwide scale is necessary and that anyone standing in the way shoulders heavy responsibility.

"I feel confident," Hammarskjold said, "in proceeding on the assumption that the United Nations can count on the cooperation of all Congolese authorities concerned, military and civilian, in arranging cease-fires, halting all military operations, and preventing clashes."

Russian People Told Khrushchev May Confer With U.S. President

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has let the Soviet people know that Premier Khrushchev is thinking of a return visit to the United Nations and the possibility of a meeting with President Kennedy while in the United States.

Films of two of the President's news conferences were shown on television Monday night, including newsmen's questions to Kenedy on whether he would meet Khrushchev if the Soviet premier visits the U.N. General Assembly opening next Tuesday. Kennedy replied only that he hadn't heard yet whether Khrushchev was coming.

Unusual Gesture

The showing of the films was an unprecedented gesture. It also was the first time that the Soviet people learned that a new Khrushchev visit to the United Nations is possible.

Such ideas are rarely put in the public mind unless they are likely to become accomplished facts.

Kennedy's statement gave the Soviet public the impression that the initiative for a visit is up to the Soviet Union and that Khrushchev would be welcome in the United States.

(Soviet diplomats in Washington have been active in spreading the idea that Khrushchev would like to make a visit, and diplomatic circles in the U.S. capital have said they would not be surprised if Khrushchev comes to the United States late in April, when the assembly session will be winding up.)

Televising of the conferences here also coincides with the return of U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson from talks with Kennedy in Washington.

The ambassador is carrying a message from the President reportedly expressing his full confidence in Thompson and hope that talks between the envoy and Khrushchev will result in better relations between Washington and Moscow.

This would appear a move to keep Soviet-American relations off the summit level, an eventuality hard to avoid if Khrushchev goes to the United Nations.

Agreement Cited

An announcement before the TV show said the Kennedy news conferences were being carried at the request of the United States as part of a Soviet American cultural exchange agreement.

Both conferences had been cut, one to 25 minutes and the other to 17, or a little more than half their original length. In addtiion to the questions about a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting, Soviet film editors also left in the President's statements on freeing the U.S. RB47 fliers, repeating the American pledge for no more U2 flights over the Soviet Union and taking steps against rising unemployment in the United States.

Cuba Sees U. S. Plot

Castro Opens All-Out Drive Against Kennedy

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government launched an all-out attack on President Kennedy's administration today and charged anew the United States is plotting to overthrow the Cuban strongman.

The blistering attack was contained in a lengthy note sent Monday night to Latin-American foreign ministers. It was to be distributed later to the Organization of American States and the United Nations.

The Cuban note recalled the invasion charges Castro hurled at the Eisenhower administration a few months ago. Washington denounced those charges as a cover-up to divert the Cuban people's attention from economic troubles at home.

Alleges Twofold Plan

One Latin-American diplomat shrugged off the latest Cuban note as "the same old story"—this time directed at the Kennedy administration.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa charged the United States with plotting a twofold plan to bring down the Castro regime.

The first phase would be an attempt to overthrow Castro before the conference of Western Hemisphere foreign ministers in Quito May 24.

If that fails an alternative plan would create conditions for indirect military aggression masterminded by the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency. This would be masked by a declaration of war against Cuba by Guatemala, Nicaragua or Peru that would permit the setting up of a beachhead on Cuban soil. An artifcial provisional government then would be set up in Cuba and probably receive direct military aid.

Sleet and Snow Cuts Power for 400,000 In Greater Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — About 400,000 persons in Greater Montreal were still without heat and light today in the wake of a severe sleet and snow storm.

Officials said relief would come for most by late today. But some will be at least a week without power.

The storm, bringing one-quarter of an inch of freezing rain and six inches of snow, hit the area Saturday night and early Sunday.

An army of repairmen continued their task of restoring countless broken poles and snapped wires.

Overloading circuits threatened for a while to trigger a total blackout of Montreal Island but radio and television appeals to customers, requesting them to economize power, averted the crisis.

Answers to these questions will be available to Post-Crescent readers in a series of articles by Howard Benedict which begins in this evening's edition on Page A-11.

Read about the first of the three intelligent, adventurous and humorous men — each with a flaming ambition to be the first to cross the threshold into the unknown — in tonight's Post-Crescent.

New Flood Threat Lessens in South

Predicted Heavy Rains to be Less Than Anticipated, Many Homeless in Mississippi Area

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The danger of new flooding in the stricken areas of the Southland lessened as the Weather Bureau predicted rains today would be less than had been anticipated.

But the floodwaters receding from the hard-hit inland cities posed a threat to areas farther south.

The rains, which moved into Louisiana and Mississippi Monday night and spread across Alabama and Georgia today, were expected to be much lighter than had been originally forecast. The Weather Bureau in Atlanta said the rain would be mostly showers and very light except in north Alabama, north Georgia and Tennessee where it would be moderate.

Lowlands Evacuated

The new flood danger area extended from Jackson, Miss., across to Bainbridge, Ga. The lowlands around the Mississippi capital city were evacuated Monday night as the crest moved down the Pearl River. An estimated 600 persons may be forced out of their homes at Jackson.

In Alabama, Selma braced for a 57.8-foot crest on the Alabama River which earlier had forced thousands from their homes at Montgomery. An estimated 1,400 persons were being cared for Monday night in Red Cross shelters at Selma.

President Kennedy designated most of the flood-ravaged area as a major disaster area, eligible for federal aid. The Small Business Administration named 15 counties in Alabama, 6 in Mississippi and 2 in Georgiaas being eligible for reconstruction or rehabilitation loans.

Project in Danger

Three multimillion-dollar public works projects on the Chattahoochee River between Georgia and Alabama were in danger from the flood waters. The U.S. Corps of Engineers prepared to flood the entire 20-acre construction area to save a large coffer dam at the $15-million Columbia (Ala.) dam and lock project.

At Fort Gaines, Ga., minor leaks were reported in a coffer dam surrounding the Walter F. George lock construction site. At Georgetown, the river already hadswept away two 30-foot construction bridges and overflowed a small coffer dam at the site of a new highway bridge and railroad trestle under construction.

While the death toll has climbed to 13 in the flood area, six persons lived through freak accidents Monday. Four Negroes escaped death at Phenix City, Ala., when their car fell some 35 feet into a hole as a section of a main traffic thoroughfare dropped into a water-eroded excavation.

Escape Injury

Two National Guardsmen escaped injury when the helicopter they were using for rescue work plunged into the river near Selma. They were pulled from the water by those they had gone to aid.

Evacuees in Montgomery, Ala., and Hattiesburg, Miss., have begun the trek back to waterlogged homes. In both cities—hardest hit by the flood—water supplies have been chlorinated and residents warned to boil drinking water.

No valid estimate of the damages caused so far are availazle, but Alabama Highway Dirctor Sam Englehardt said that state's roads have taken a more than $2 million beating. Water damage to homes and businesses, livestock drowned, as well as time lost from production will run the total up to many millions of dollars.

Opinions Vary On Teaching Of Languages

Some Educators Want Work Started In Elementary Grades

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The teaching of foreign languages in the elementary grades is here to stay, and the schools may as well make the best of it.

That appeared to be the consensus of superintendents who heard the issue debated at the convention of the American Association of School Administrators Monday.

Those who are reluctant to start such programs in their schools aren't against foreign languages, or progress in education. They pose two practical questions: Where do we get the teachers?

Argues Against

Dan T. Dawson of the California Elementary School Administrators' Association, argued that foreign language instruction should not start before the seventh grade.

"We hear on all sides," he said, "that an understanding of foreign languages is important for international understanding, for the understanding of other cultures, for world trade, for enriching cultural experiences, and as preparation for high school and college.

"But the first three of these are too complex for elementary school children. Enrichment experiences can be more effectively developed in art, music and social studies programs. And we must never look upon the elementary school as just a stepping stone to high school and college."

Dawson said, "We don't have the teachers, and we aren't about to get them."

No Longer Able

Prof. Charles W. Lovy of Contra Costa College, San Pablo, Calif., said in reply: "If foreign languages are to be taught at all effectively, they must be taught in the elemntary schools. We now postpone this teaching until the pupil is no longer able to learn rapidly and efficiently.

'We know now that at an early age—and up to about age 12—the human brain has unlimited elasticity. During this period, a child can learn to speak two or three languages at the same time with equal ease.

"Then the brain becomes stiff and rigid, so far as the ability to learn a language is concerned. The children can still learn a foreign language, of course, but never again with the ease and facility of their younger days.'

In a lengthy discussion from the floor that followed the debate, the school superintendents made it clear that the question with them wasn't whether the foreign language program should be started, but how.

Car, Truck Crash Claims Two Lives

The deaths of two persons in a car and truck collision have raised Wisconsin's 1961 highway toll to 120 compared with 103 on this same day a year ago.

Paul N. Holzer, 39, and Mrs. Evelyn Scherer, 44, both of Route 2, Auburndale, were killed Monday when their automobile and a dump truck collided at the intersection of two town roads about 10 miles northeast of Marshfield in Marathon County. # Dog Appears As Evidence In Court Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "What gentleman in this room uses an item to see better with?" the owner asked his dog in court.

London, a German shepherd, walked to the court reporter.

"What is the item?", asked owner Charles P. Eisenmann.

London nuzzled the reporter's glasses.

The dog appeared Monday as evidence in Eisenmann's $35,000 suit against a delivery firm. He says a 1957 collision between its truck and his auto gave the dog a broken leg and bumped head that limit his abilities as a movie and TV actor.

He directed London to turn off the lights. The dog walked to the light switch and pointed with a paw, apparently unable to finish the job.

Eisenmann asked London to speak. The court reporter, Frank Van Horn, refused to transcribe the dog's growly, guttural sounds.

But to Eisenmann and several courtroom observers they sounded like. "Hello. How are you? I don't wanna."

Eisenmann said London, now 10, first showed ability to talk years ago when he asked the to go for a walk in the rain and London growled: "I don't wanna."

Plane's Propeller Strikes Girl's Hand

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — The spinning propeller of a small airplane cut the right hand and hip of a 19-year-old Cornell University coed yesterday. Her hand had to be amputated in a hospital.

Police said Madeline Leston of New York City accidentally stepped into the path of the propeller as she walked to the single-engine plane for a pleasure ride with three other students.

She had been aboard but discovered she had forgotten her glasses in her automobile. The accident at the Tompkins County airport occurred as she returned with the glasses.

Soviets Give Version Of Where Jazz Started

Russian Writer Says Red Musicians Have Always Improvised at Weddings

BY HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—We always knew it came up the river, but we weren't sure which river.

Now, after all these years, the Soviets have cleared up the matter.

Jazz, it seems, didn't come up the Mississippi from New Orleans to Memphis.

It came up the Dnieper from Odessa to Kiev, then on to Moscow by way of the smoky clubs of Smolensk.

Upbeat Version

Writing in "Soviet Culture," an upbeat version of "Downbeat," Utyosov recalled that "in Odessa long ago musicians always improvised at weddings and this gives me grounds to say that so-called Dixieland existed in Odessa before New Orleans."

Now it all comes back.

Who can forget the old days in Odessa when all the cats congregated odwn by the Black Sea to hear Satchmo Stalin and his Siberian Six belt out "Sweet Georgi Brown," "When It's Sleepy Time in Smolensk" and "Bulganin, Won't You Please Come Home?"

Even before the wedding parties, there were the funerals, with the old balalaika bands marching in stately procession out to the peoples graveyard just beyond the collective farm.

Jazz Greats

'Those were the days of the jazz greats—Bix Beria, Jelly Roll Malenkov, Ziggy Molotov, Big Daddy Khrushchev and Wingy Gromyko—all playing their hearts out, like there was no tomorrow, man, for just a few kopeks tossed in front of the marchers by the writhing crowd.

Heading out to the graveyard, they played it sweet and low, wringing tht last tear from such traditional dirges as "St. Petersburg Infirmary Blues" (later changed to "Leningrad Infirmary Blues") and "When the Commissars Come Marching In."

Coming back, the mood would suddenly change, from the somber to the frenzied, from the funereal to the far out. Like wild, man.

Authentic, Original

Then you'd hear the real Dixieland—authentic, original, improvised, non-imperialistic.

Bix Beria would grab his steaming hot zither and solo with "Way Down Yonder in Tsaritsyn" (later changed to "Way Down Yonder in Stalingrad"), while the rest of the cats, in mad counterpoint, made with "Muscovite Ramble." And right in the middle, Ziggy Molotov would break in with his five-stringed oud for a couple of riffs of "It's a Long Way to Outer Mongolia."

And who can forget Hot Lips Lenin, the father of modern jazz and the first cat to sport a beatnik beard? In the days before the October revolution, he used to sit outside the czar's palace and hypnotize the masses with his way out wailing of "South Red Square Parade" and "Wheat Field Stomp."

Then they nursed it rehearsed it, cleared it with the commissar of culture, whipped it into the party dialectic, and they called it the birth of the blues.

Man, that's the way it began.

Japan Hasn't Decided Just How to Greet Ike

TOKYO (AP) — Japan has not yet decided whether to entertain former President Eisenhower as a state guest or as a private visitor, Foreign Minister Zentaro Kosaka said today.

Kosaka's statement to a news conference confirmed reports that there is some disagreement over the best way to receive Eisenhower when he comes to make up for a scheduled 1960 presidential goodwill visit that was cancelled because of leftwing rioting.

The former president reportedly has indicated his interest in visiting Japan next fall with Mrs. Eisenhower and a date may be set soon.

Tot's Little Brother Coming Home, but Not for Very Long

CLEVELAND (AP)— Two-year-old Marsha Barr has her baby brother home with her. That's all she is concerned with now. But her carefree play with little Jimmy Jr. soon will end.

For several weeks Marsha, accompanied by one of her grandparents, had been a regular visitor at St. Alexis Hospital. She came to see her nine-month-old brother.

Captivated Staff

Her infectious smile captivated the hospital staff and all other visitors.

Yesterday was a big day for Marsha. Brother "Dimmy" as she calls him — James Henry Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Barr of suburban Brook Park — was being released from the hospital.

The girl was thrilled. She was not aware of the seriousness of Jimmy's condition. Gleefully she accompanied her mother to the hospital. Now that her brother was coming home, Marsha would no longer have to cry out for him in the middle of a fitful sleep.

For all Marsha knew, this was the happiest of happy days. She was not told how long she will have Jimmy at home. Doctors have estimated the infant has only four to six months to live.

The young mother, 20, summoned courage for what is ahead. "God needs little ones for his own purpose, so I suppose we shouldn't mourn too much because he wants ours," said Mrs. Barr.

Jimmy Barr Jr. has cancer.

Senate Hearing to End Today on Bill to Aid Depressed Areas

Labor Committee to Begin Work In Higher Minimum Wage Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Banking subcommittee ends hearings today on the $389.5-million depressed areas bill while the Senate Labor subcommittee gets to work on President Kennedy's proposal for a higher minimum wage.

Administration leaders hope for a faster pace of Senate action on the President's program after a harmonious caucus of Democratic senators Monday.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said he thought the depressed areas bill should be cleared for floor action next week and that major administration bills should be ready to follow in a steady stream.

Depressed Areas

House subcommittees also are working on the minimum wage and depressed areas bills.

A House Labor subcommittee has completed its public sessions on minimum wage legislation and is drafting its version of the bill behind closed doors.

A House Banking subcommittee continues today with testimony on the depressed areas bill. Gov. Bert Combs of Kentucky is among the scheduled witnesses.

Three Cabinet members appear before the Senate banking group in its final session on the depressed areas bill—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

Vote on Measure

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., subcommittee chairman, said his group would try to vote on the measure Wednesday or Thursday. It also must be cleared by the full committee before it can go to the floor.

The Senate subcommittee is expected to approve the full amount of federal loan and grant funds asked by Kennedy to aid areas of high and chronic unemployment.

The bill sponsored by the President is almost identical with the one drafted by Douglas and passed by the Senate last year. It was cut down in the House and finally vetoed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

However, there are two points on which long-time Senate sponsors of the legislation differ with Kennedy.

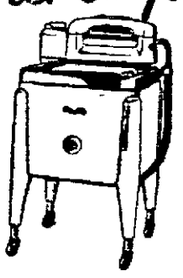

Douglas favors an independent agency to administer the program. The President has asked that it be put under the Commerce Department.

The Senate bill would make available the funds through advances from the Treasury, sometimes called backdoor spending. Kennedy has asked that it be handled through the regular appropriations process.

Democrats on the Senate Labor subcommittee hope to end hearings on Kennedy's minimum wage bill by Friday. However, Republican members says this is not enough time.

Kennedy has asked for an increase by steps in the $1 wage floor to $1.25 and coverage of an additional 4.3 million workers.

Reds, Castroists in Chile Show Power

Young Intellectuals Feel U. S. Is Unconscious of Their Goals

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — An aggressive combination of Communists and Castro admirers is showing its strength in Chile. It even may be edging toward power.

Ask a wealthy or upper-middle-class Chilean about this, and he replies with a shrug: "After all, they're Chileans first."

Chile's small well-to-do class stands stubbornly in the way of reform. Because most Chileans are tolerant, peace-loving and law-abiding, upper-class elements seem confident there is little to fear from the extreme left's rising strength.

But highly qualified outside observers say Chile's rich either must submit to broad social, economic, and agricultural reforms or be swept aside in an angry tide of rebellion.

These observers say this would have been so even if there had been no Fidel Castro in Cuba. The Cuban revolution gave the left in Chile added momentum. Castroism, in fact, forced the Communist hand.

Reds Forced Into Open

The small but tightly organized and disciplined Communist party in Chile had been playing a cautious game. It had used the classic approach of allying itself with the middle classes. It had announced itself in favor of nondisputed things and had avoided emphasis on seizure and nationalization. It won wide support from impatient young intellectuals.

Castroism's rise set a new pattern. The Castroist Socialists demanded action, swift and violent. To capitalize on the impact of Castro, the Communists openly had to confess their all-out Communist aims.

Communists, extremist Socalists and a non-Marxist splinter

Communists, extremist Socialists and a non-Marxist splinter party joined in the FRAP—Frente Accion Popular or Popular Action Front. Even before Castro took power they came within 40,000 votes of electing a Chilean president in 1958. They now have high hopes of showing significant strength in congressional elections March 5 and of victory in the 1964 presidential elections.

Castro had an enormous impact on Chile two years ago. His influence is declining now as the label of dictator is applied to him. Chileans have a traditional horror of dictatorship. But the decline is not enough to insure Chile against violent Castroist-Communist revolution.

U. S. Out of Touch

By Latin American standards, Chile is a literate country. But among its angry intellectuals the Communist party has made itself attractive by alluring promises. Communism, the intellectuals are told, brings technology and with technology Chileans can accomplish miracles for and by themselves.

The United States, such intellectuals will tell you, offers as a slogan only anticommunism. They say this despite a heavy flow of American loans, grants and technical aid along with generous contributions to reconstruction after last spring's earthquakes. Many Chileans know little of this aid. The intellectual, while he knows about it, still says he feels the United States is out of touch with the young Chilean's ambitions for the future.

Chile, while differing in many respects from other countries of South America, presents a capsule picture of Latin American problems. It underscores a continent-wide challenge, not only to Latin America's ruling politicians but to the United States and Western democracy to understand the urge for reform and to attempt to channel it constructively. But time is running out.

Like much of Latin America, Chile is plagued by inflation. It is harried by a fever to end a hated big landlord system and institute obviously needed land reforms of industrialization. It is struggling with problems of industrialization. It is nagged by one of the worst housing situations in all Latin America. Like many another sister republic, it desperately needs tax reforms.

But Chile's wealthy give one the impression they feel if they close their eyes the threats will vanish.

Democracy Means Little

The intellectual, the university student, the young man eager for reform — powerful forces in a country of 7½ million — make it clear they see the rich as defenders of ancient evils, ultraconservatives devoting themselves to stubborn defense of old abuses.

They make it clear, too, that in their view the United States seems for the most part on the side of the conservatives, the status quo, and that this is a U.S. liability.

"In a very real sense," one earnest Chilean told me, "the administration of President Kennedy is on probation here."

Scott Appeals U. S. Order To Sell Three Subsidiaries

Scott Paper Co. has appealed a Federal Trade Commission decision ordering it to divest itself of three companies acquired in the early 1950's.

Scott asked the U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia to reverse the antitrust decision. The F.T.C. in December, 1960, ordered Scott to divest itself of Soundview Pulp Co., Everett, Wash.; Hollingsworth and Whitney Co., of Boston and Detroit Sulphite and Paper Co., Detroit.

In its petition to the court, Scott claimed the commission made numerous errors of fact and law." Scott's appeal stated, "The commission's finding that the acquired companies were potential competitors of Scott is contrary to law and to the whole record (of hearings) and is unsupported by substantial evidence."

Scott said an F.T.C. hearing examiner had twice ordered the commission's complaint against the paper company dismissed, and the commission itself had clearly recognized that none of the acquired companies was a competitor of Scott.

Scott added that Section 7 of the Clayton Act "does not prohibit acquisitions which in themselves result in no actual or probable foreclosure or lessening of competition."

Dues Increase By AFL-CIO Gets Approval

Executive Council Votes Special 3 Cent Payment

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO is tapping its members for an extra $2.2 million to counter a deficit caused by a combination of bad luck and bad work.

The bad luck is the unemployment situation. In five years the AFL-CIO has lost a million members, many of them made jobless in the 1958 and the current recessions with consequent dues payment loss.

The bad work comes from a lack of successful organizing. The federation's unions have either lost their technique or zeal or both in enlisting new members.

These are the reasons behind a decision made yesterday by the 29-member AFL-CIO executive council, high command of the labor union federation, to levy a special assessment on the organization's 12.5 million members.

Special Payment

The special dues payment will be three cents a month per member on top of the regular five cents a month dues payment. This makes a total of eight cents a month payable by each affiliated union on each of its members.

This is only a temporary expedient to meet a financial crisis. AFL-CIO leaders said privately that when the federation's convention convenes in December they expect to propose, and get a permanent two-cent hike in monthly per capita dues, to bring the permanent levy to seven cents.

All this underlines the fact clearly shown in the 10-day winter meeting of AFL-CIO chiefs, now nearing a close, that union labor's main organization is currently wobbly both in word and deed.

Pronouncements from the AFL-CIO leaders have largely dealt with international domestic problems not too closely allied with the bread and butter wage and job security matters that worry the average worker.

Changing Scene

This is partly due to the changing American scene—the fact that the era of manual labor familiar to most union leaders is fast disappearing and that the day has dawned for the clerical workers more highly skilled and less susceptible to becoming union members.

The labor leaders are aware of this change, and want to adjust to the new order but as yet haven't decided on a successful formula to handle it.

The AFL-CIO leaders were due to wind up their winter sessions today. They had a renewed hassle scheduled, however, on the matter of civil rights.

One wing of the executive council is impatient over continuing racial barriers in some unions against Negroes. But the majority, led by AFL-CIO President George Meany, contend that federation unions are making steady progress toward eliminating racial segregation.

How About Sardines For Morning Dessert?

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Scoutmaster Minor McCrite could hardly believe his eyes.

The boys in his troop on an overnight camping trip cooked their own breakfasts. One of them ate nine fried eggs, seven strips of bacon and a can or sardines.

Why sardines for breakfast? asked McCrite.

"Oh, I just thought I ought to have some dessert," the boy replied.

Wiley Wants Kennedy To Continue 'Invest In America' Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis., said Monday he wants President Kennedy to follow the lead of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in proclaiming a National Invest-In-America Week.

Wiley offered legislation that would authorize and request the President to designate the week of April 30-May 6 as "a good time to reaffirm our belief in the power of work, savings and investments to create new business and better job opportunities for all our citizens."

Active in the promotion since its inception in 1949, Wiley said he would continue the kickoff luncheons on Capitol Hill at which he has been the host in recent years.

Rusk Quizzed On Rumors of Policy Change

Delay on Atomic War

Informants said Rusk favored holding off the use of nuclear weapons until a Communist attack reached a more massive level than would have triggered atomic retaliation under the Eisenhower administration's policy. In defense language, this is known as raising the atomic threshold.

High officials made clear that the U. S. government still plans to draw on its atomic arsenal if necessary against ommunist attacks abroad.

A story in Monday's Washington Star described Rusk's position as this:

"1. Use of the big missiles and bombers carrying atomic weapons should be confined to deterrence of attacks on this country and deterrence of 'nuclear blackmail.'

Charges Distortion

"2. Attacks on Europe should be met with conventional, nonnuclear weapons unless the enemy started to use nuclear weapons.

"3. Limited aggressions outside Europe should be handled by our troops, rather than those of our allies, and we should use nonnuclear weapons in meeting such aggression.'

While declining to specify what Rusk recommended, Lincoln White, State Department press officer, denounced the Star version "as the grossest distortion of the views of the Department of State."

State Department authorities voiced concern that the Soviets might get a wrong impression from the Stars account and decide that West Europe is open for invasion without danger of atomic counterattack.

An inquiry was under way to find who leaked a story about the top secret Rusk memo to the press. White accused those who leaked the story of 'the most irresponsible and reckless attitude."

Kennedy to Hold News Conference Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Kennedy will hold a news conference at 10 a.m. EST Wednesday. The White House said yesterday the session will not be carried live on television or radio.

Kennedy did not hold a news conference last week since Wednesday, the day the conference normally is held, was George Washington's birthday.

Kennedy Wants Tax Hike for Big Trucks

work, he said federal control or billboard taxes might be necessary.

Superhighway Benefits

In arguing the merits of superhighways, Kennedy said they will save each year at least 4,000 lives, 42,000 years of travel time and 9 billion stops for red lights and intersections.

Declaring the road program vital to the nation's security, safety and economic growth, Kennedy said "I am wholly opposed to either stretching out or cutting back" the work. He was equally emphatic about paying for the job out of revenues from taxes on highway users without dipping into general funds and unbalancing the budget.

Funds in Recession

The only time regular Treasury funds should be used, he said, would be in times of recession. He added that he believes anti-slump moves already proposed will be sufficiently effective to make such action unnecessary.

If a later reading of economic signposts indicates otherwise, Kennedy said, Congress might want to use general funds to repair winter road damage in areas of substantial unemployment.

The President said the road program is in real peril because of a threatened shortage of funds. He said that if the job is to be finished on schedule federal revenues must be increased by $900 million a year after June 30. Otherwise, he said, the program will take an extra five years.

90 Per Cent By U. S.

The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of the new superhighways and the states the rest. The total bill is expected to approach $40 billion by 1972.

To raise an additional $900 million a year, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower last month recommended that the gas tax be boosted to 4½ cents a gallon.

Kennedy called this "clearly acceptable." However, he said that because of economic conditions he would "prefer not to raise taxes on the general consumer at this time."

His alternative suggestion: provide $600 million a year by preventing the scheduled 1-cent cut in the gas tax and raise the remaining $300 million through the heavier taxes and fees which would bear most heavily on truckers.

Under the Kennedy plan the federal truck license fee, applying to vehicles of more than 26,000 pounds weight when loaded, would go up from the present $1.50 a thousand pounds to $5 a thousand. Thus the fee for a 45,000-pound truck would rise from $67.50 to $225. The tax on a 100-pound truck tire would jump from $8 to $10 and trucks burning diesel fuel would pay a tax of 7 cents a gallon instead of the present 4 cents.

The biggest effect on the average motorists would be the higher tire tax—a matter of an extra 4 0 cents on a typical 20-pound tire.

Rancher Gets Surprise— President on Phone

HANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Turkey rancher Bob Williams answered the telephone and got a surprise. On the other end was President John F. Kennedy.

But the Saturday call was brief. The President had reached the wrong Williams. The call was switched promptly to another Bob Williams, of Hanford, a state senator.

Horses Don't Need Lights, Court Rules

PATERSON, N. J. (AP) — Horses clopping along highways at night need not be laden with tail lights, says Passaic County Judge Stanley J. Pollack.

As a result of his ruling Monday, horse owner Martin Hup Jr., will collect $1,400 and horse rider Jes Tyson will collect $2,000 from motorist William Rodgers.

In January 1960, Tyson was riding a horse along Marshall Street here.

Rodgers, driving his automobile ran into the horse from the rear.

Tyson testified he was knocked off the horse. The horse then fell on him. The horse later was destroyed. Tyson and Hup sued Rodgers for damages.

Rodgers' lawyer, John Hand, argued the two had no case because the horse's rear end was not illuminated.

Judge Pollack noted that the law says cars and horse-driven wagons needed lights in the rear. But, he added, horses did not.

Bond Issue Defeated At Richland Center

RICHLAND CENTER (AP)—A $295,000 bond issue for three school projects was defeated in a referendum Monday by a vote of 512-477.

The school board said the outcome of the referendum came as a surprise because there had been no apparent opposition to the proposed bond issue prior to voting day.

The total number of ballots was nearly four times the number marked in 1957 when a $500,000 bond issue was approved.

Congo, Kasai, Katanga Sign Military Pact

said to have told Williams that the Congolese government is not waging a cold war against the United Nations.

Williams assured Kasavubu of President Kennedy's continued support for the Leopoldville government against the Stanleyville regime. Kasavubu was said to have asserted his will to cooperate with the United Nations if it consults with and works with the Congo central government.

Tension in Leopoldville continued high after the outbreak of violence and rape by Congolese soldiers Sunday night against U.N. personnel.

Forces On Alert

Two Moroccan members of the U.N. staff were arrested on the Leopoldville-Matadi road. U.N. soldiers remained on the alert through the night. The use of U.N. vehicles for pleasure trips in the city was barred.

The United Nations said Gizenga's soldiers who reached Luluabourg, originally estimated at 350, now were reported to be about 150. Apparently disgruntled, the soldiers pulled out north, leaving their commander in the lurch. He took asylum at U. N. headquarters.

The spearhead that had advanced from Luluabourg and was reported Monday to have crossed into Leopoldville province also seemed to have vanished.

Rebels Lose Enthusiasm

The soldiers from Stanleyville, where political heirs of slain Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba have their headquarters, occupied Luluabourg last Friday after traveling halfway across the Congo. Luluabourg lies about 500 miles east of Leopoldville. Advance units had pushed 100 miles or more toward the capital.

U.N. reports said the rebels appeared to have lost heart after being ordered off the Luluabourg airport by Ghanaian soldiers of the United Nations. In addition, a U.N. spokesman said, they seemed to have become suspicious of negotiations going on between their own officers and officers of the Luluabourg garrison.

The airport incident started Monday when a detachment of the original Congolese garrison turned up demanding a share in the guard duties.

Told to Quit Airport

The airport was then being manned jointly by Ghanaian U.N. soldiers and a detachment of the Stanleyville soldiers.

The Ghanaians refused to let units of both Congolese factions stay at the airport.

"So they requested them all to leave," the U.N. spokesman said.

The military pact signed today brings together the squabbling anti-Communist leaders in the Congo — at least for the time being.

An agreement signed in Elisabethville, capital of the secessionist province of Katanga, provides badly needed aid for Kasavubu's disorganized forces.

Under terms of the pact they will pool their troops to combat the "Communist dictatorial regime" of Gizenga in Stanleyville. Permanent contacts for both military and political cooperation are to be set up.

Kasavubu has the most to gain from the agreement. Tshombe's 5,000 well-paid soldiers are the Congo's best-trained and supplied and are led by Belgian officers who can coordinate strategy. Kalonji has about 1,000 soldiers and an undetermined number of Baluba tribesmen.

The Leopoldville government's 7,500 men are scattered and disorganized. Kasavubu called for general mobilization Monday in an attempt to strengthen his forces.

Gizenga's soldiers, numbering between 5,000 and 7,000, are spread out in the sections of the Congo—more than one-third of the country—his regime controls.

Tshombe also has reinforced his military posture by calling off his agreement with the United Nations to suspend military action and resuming, as he put it, Katanga's "freedom of action."

Class Samples Soviet Punch, Vodka and All

Student Prepared Drink for Eighth Graders At UW-M Campus Elementary School

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The betterment of Soviet-American relations has taken a step forward—or backward — at Campus Elementary School. It all depends on how you like your punch.

Students in the eighth grade class of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee operated school recently embarked on a program of sampling the food of foreign nations as part of learning more about social and domestic customs of other peoples.

For the Russian program one of the students prepared a punch to go with the other things on the menu and remarked with a grin that he had spiked it with vodka.

Checking Done

Principal Donald M. Matheson said some checking up was done later on and it was learned that the punch was indeed spiked with vodka.

Matheson, who said he is debating whether he should veto future food programs, wrote a letter to parents which was revealed Monday and in which he said, among other things:

". . the legal and moral implications are compounded by the occurrence on university property... Such an incident should serve as a useful illustration of underestimating both the imagination and face value of a youngster's apparently casual comment."

1 to 22 Ratio

Matheson said the punch had an estimated vodka ratio of 1 to 22, not enough to make any of the students ill or unsteady for the amount each youngster had to drink.

The students said they liked the punch.

However, the punch did little for the cause of realism. So far no one has been able to find a Russian recipe that calls for diluting one part of vodka with 22 parts of punch.

also were some price cuts in shoes and other clothing items.

Other Lower Prices

Average clothing prices dropped by 1.1 per cent from December to January.

Used car prices were down 2.5 per cent and Myers said this development was influenced, too, by the weather.

Food prices, on the average were down 1/10 of 1 per cent.

As for the February outlook, Myers said he would expect little change although a drop between January and February is normal.

In a separate report, the bureau said the spendable earnings and buying power of factory workers were virtually unchanged in January.

Spendable earnings—take home pay after taxes — for a factory worker with three dependents amounted to $79.97 a week, the same as in December-

Burglars Operating At a Dead Loss, but Jobs are Spectacular

LONDON (AP) — A police spokesman said today a gang of burglars operating in Nottinghamshire "doesn't even appear to have covered their expenses."

Nine days ago they used too much explosive to blow up the safe at an auto shop. They blew off the roof.

Then they tried to blow open the strongroom at a brewery in Kimberly and overturned an oil heater causing a fire.

Monday they cut their way into a bank vault at Daybrook, but their oxy-acetylene torches set the bank on fire. The bank is located next door to the firehouse. The bungling burglars fled just before the firemen arrived.

The three burglaries brought a total loot of $14.

Water in White House Swimming Pool Cooled To Suit President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The water in the White House swimming pool has been cooled down toward New England temperature for President Kennedy.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger reported in reply to questions Monday that Kennedy has used the pool only a couple of times since he took office Jan. 20.

The first time, Salinger said with a chuckle, the temperature was "around 100 degrees."

"I understand it's been cooled down," Salinger added.

Mexican Mayor New Envoy to Costa Rica

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—If Raymond Telles' face looks familiar to the Costa Ricans and they wonder where they saw him beforee, it was probably in the movies.

Telles

In 1958, the State Department filmed a "Typical Day in the Life of the El Paso Mayor." The film was shown widely in South and Central America including Costa Rica.

He was appointed as ambassador to that country by President Kennedy. Naming Telles, who is of Mexican descent, Kennedy fulfilled his promise to take advantage of Spanish-Americans in his administration.

First Mexican Mayor

Telles, 45, is the first mayor of El Paso of Mexican descent in a city where 40 per cent of the population is of Mexican stock. He is a comparative newcomer to politics.

During World War II, Telles joined the Army as a private. In 1945, he was assigned to the Mexico City embassy as lend lease officer for the Air Force for South and Central America.

For his work, he received the Distinguished Flying Cross from Peru; the National Order of Southern Cross from Brazil; Medal of Military Merit from Mexico; honorary air force wings from Colombia; and the presidential letter of commendation from Nicaragua.

From his own country, Telles received the Commendation Ribbon and one Oak Leaf Cluster and was recommended for the Legion of Merit.

During the Korean War, as executive officer of the 67th Tactical and Reconnaissance Group of the Air Force, he was awarded the Bronze Star.

Telles was born and schooled in El Paso. He was graduated from Texas Western College with a degree in business administration.

After the war, Telles returned to El Paso and entered politics. In 1948, he won the first of four two-year terms as El Paso County clerk.

Sought First Term

In 1957, he sought his first term as mayor. He won the post with an overwhelming majority and was re-elected in 1959 with no opposition.

Telles first met President Kennedy during the election campaign of 1956.

He has also been a personal friend of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson for many years.

Wisconsin's Big Problem Relates to Taxes

Gov. Gaylord Nelson has challenged Republican members of the legislature to bring in their own tax program if they think they can improve upon his proposals. Further, he has offered to loan them his financial adviser and to give them the services of the state tax commissioner in drafting the program. The governor's suggestion was a reply to criticism of his tax proposal recently submitted to the legislature.

If the legislature should be interested in accepting the challenge, members may be interested in the results of a tax survey by the Wisconsin Industrial Growth Organization. This group consists of 55 members who are presidents or general managers of Wisconsin companies. They submitted a 21-page questionnaire to Wisconsin industrial employers and received 327 replies, representing 31 per cent of the state's industrial employment total. From these replies the organization has concluded that Wisconsin has some advantages for industry although income taxes, personal property taxes, labor costs, and an uncooperative attitude by government officials are drawbacks to industrial expansion.

Twenty-two per cent of the firms reported they had transferred operations from Wisconsin, discontinued Wisconsin operations, or started new operations outside the state during the last five years. These changes had cost the state 16,475 jobs, of which 10,400 could have been saved if the adverse conditions had not existed. It also was reported that during the next five years 38 expansions will take place outside of Wisconsin, costing the state 7,822 additional jobs involving an estimated capital outlay of $51,850,000. At the same time there will be 114 expansions in Wisconsin providing 13,194 jobs at an estimated capital outlay of $119,342,000.

William D Stancil, secretary of W.I.G.O. and executive secretary of the Manufacturers Association of Racine, said that of the companies reporting 74 per cent said that existing state taxes are a handicap to their operations. Corporate income and personal property taxes were named most frequently. Fifty-seven per cent said local taxes handicapped their operations. Personal property tax and real estate taxes were complained of by 79 per cent of the companies reporting from Milwaukee.

Many of the companies, and particularly those with out-of-state operations, reported that Wisconsin's individual income taxes discouraged many good potential employes from locating in the state. This is a complaint that often has been made. Many people believe this could be eliminated by the adoption of a sales tax and accompanying reduction in personal income taxes. The attraction of high-class executives to the state is an important and necessary part of the development of industry. This fact may explain why 75 per cent of those responding to the questionnaire favored a sales tax.

The majority of the executives complained about corporate income and personal property taxes.

Here is where the argument tends to center in all such discussions. Gov. Nelson reported in a pre-election interview with the Post-Crescent that Wisconsin's corporate income tax never had been an important factor in his discussion of these problems with industrialists either contemplating entering the state or those planning expansions here. He pointed out that Wisconsin's corporate income tax could be largely offset against the higher federal income tax on corporations and therefore was not a burden. Nevertheless, the Wisconsin corporate income tax is an additional tax and it appears that most companies would have difficulty in offsetting much more than half of it against their federal income tax bill. Since corporations must expect to contribute something towards the operation of the state government this tax, which would finally work out to a rather small levy on income, may be considered by most corporations to be reasonable.

However, the personal property tax is another matter. This tax is known to be viciously unfair. It tends to put Wisconsin businessmen in an uncompetitive position in relation to their out-of-state competitors. It further interferes with the sensible and economic operation of businesses because it prevents some men from buying at discounts during the months preceding May 1, when they could put in an adequate stock and save themselves money on the purchase price if it were not for the personal property tax on the purchases that would be facing them on May 1.

It has many other disadvantages, not the least of which is that it treats business people unfairly by laying a heavy tax on some merchants who cannot avoid having big stocks on May 1, while giving an advantage to other merchants with a quick turnover who may have their stocks down on that date.

The people of Wisconsin will vote in April on a proposed amendment to the state constitution which, if adopted, will lift the requirement that merchants' stocks, manufacturers' materials and finished products and livestock must be taxed on a basis uniform with real property or other personal property. If this amendment is adopted, the people will be taking an important step toward establishing a favorable industrial climate in Wisconsin. The adoption of this provision could open the way to the eventual elimination of the personal property tax which all informed persons agree is unfair and damaging.

Policing Defense Spending

Probably few things are more irritating to the heavily burdened taxpayer than evidences of lavish, wasteful spending by service organizations. Most people are perfectly willing to pay for anything necessary to the defense of this country but few if any people can avoid a feeling of irritation when they read of one branch of the service selling surplus supplies at bargain rates while at the same time another branch is buying the same items at regular prices. There long has been irritation over the lavish spending of American money to build plush facilities for the high brass of this or that branch of the service in a location where quite obviously the troops will be stationed only temporarily.

As these stories have appeared, it has been infrequently, if ever, that anything was done to correct it. The other day at a news conference President Kennedy said, "We will seek the cooperation of every citizen in this country in making sure that we get value for every dollar the government spends." He added that he wanted to hear from any citizen who could suggest ways in which public funds could be more wisely spent.

Two days later the President received a cable from an American woman overseas. It told of an officers' club project costing $200,000 which was for the purpose of making the present establishment "a little more plush."

The President reacted immediately. Sec. of Defense Robert S. McNamara was informed and within two hours the building project was dead. The report indicates that the information on the purchase of 140,000 golf balls by a club in England and 1,000,000 bottles of German beer by a club in Germany came too late to prevent the expenditure.

In getting this story one reporter asked the President's secretary if the White House was encouraging a policy of "squealing" and he was informed that "citizens have the right to tell their government if they think their funds are being wasted." Most people will agree wholeheartedly with that statement.

The military establishment of the United States is so huge and so far-flung that it is almost impossible for the central government at Washington to watch every detail. But the citizens of the United States very often have knowledge of such wasteful projects before they are launched and they can do much to keep the central government informed. It is utter folly for people to complain about the wasteful spending of their tax money while they stand by uncomplainingly afraid that they may be known as a "squealer" if they report the facts.

Court Cases as News

A lawyer in Wichita is campaigning for better coverage of court procedures by all news media. He claims to have on his side such well known national groups as the National Association of Claimants Counsel, National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, National Conference of Editorial Writers, Sigma Delta Chi and the National Press Photographers Association. Now he is working on the American Bar Association and the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

"The press, the bar, and the judiciary each have their own jobs to do, but they must realize their interests converge in an area of public service," Atty. C. H. Morris points out. It is not merely irresponsible newsmen who err, he says. "We — the bar and the bench — we are the irresponsible ones."

Actually the problem of intelligent coverage of court procedures and trials gets tangled up partly because of ignorance of such procedures by newsmen who are not lawyers by profession, and partly because of the reluctance of many lawyers and judges to accept in fact that the majority of the public understanding of courts must come through news media. The unhappy results in some areas are the banning of photographs in court because of an alleged lowering of dignity, cases tried in headlines, erroneous facts, or the language of the court reprinted to the general confusion of everyone who has not had legal training. Many lawyers and judges, as well as responsible newsmen have tried for better relations and understanding but, especially in large cities, a great deal more effort is needed.

Mr Morris may be somewhat visionary in his conception of future courthouses built with central newsrooms from which reporters may watch any trial in the building on closed circuit television and write their stories from the same area. But part of the right of the accused is to a public trial — and there is no real reason for the protection unless the public has a way of knowing the facts and understanding them.

Ald. Tews Takes Editorial Writer To Task for Unrealistic Attitude

Editor, Post-Crescent

It would seem to me the individual who wrote the editorial in the Appleton Post Crescent on Feb. 23 and 24, 1961, entitled "Second Best for Appleton?" should be more realistic in his evaluation of the facts as they were presented. Obviously he did not hear the talks personally because both Mayor Mitchell and I very specifically stated during the discussion period at the Edison School P.T.A. meeting that any plan must be flexible, and that we are not advocating cuts as such in the $15,000,000 Five-Year Plan, but prefer possibly to use the word defer. This to me means simply that instead of crowding everything into five years, we should spread the proposed capital improvements over a longer period of time and this, as I interpret it, is "Second Best" and agrees with his own statement.

Secondly, the editor obviously has not taken into account the pending or proposed projects which are not included in this $15,000,000 program and which have a strong tendency to increase this figure substantially in the period beyond five years. The editor would like to lull the taxpayers to sleep on the premise that $15,000,000 is our only concern. I wish this were true.

Another statement I made which he very conveniently omitted in the editorial is that I "strongly feel there is a limit to the amount of taxes people can afford to pay." If those of us who are concerned with government would throw all caution to the winds without regard for costs and taxes involved, then our children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren will inherit a tax burden of which I, for one, certainly could not be very proud. This applies to local, state and federal government and I am confident that the majority of the people in our city will agree with me.

Finally, we fully realize that taxation is the only means by which our city can progress but we shall continue to make every effort to spend this money wisely. Remember: unlike taxation, an editorial is the opinion of only one individual.

Old Home With New Ones Brings Protest

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We would like to present in more detail to the citizens of Neenah our objections to the moving of the house from 1st Street to the 400 block of Edna Ave. in Neenah. When we heard of the proposed move 23 homeowners in the immediate area signed a petition objecting to the move and presented it to the city council on Feb. 1, 1961. At the council meeting on Feb. 15, 1961, the mayor said there was nothing they could do and passed a resolution to let the house be moved.

Our objections were that moving an old house in between four new houses would lower our property values and moving a house over 29 feet wide down a 30-foot street the workers would probably have to walk on our lawns and even the house might have to go across our lawns to make the corner. The mayor said the paper boy walks across his land to deliver the paper and the courts would probably be lenient anyway if we had anyone arrested for trespass. Does this mean that just because the paper boy walks across Mr. Bell's land this would allow a housemover the right to walk across our land if necessary? Does Mr. Bell propose he is a judge to say a court will be lenient in matters of this nature?

It seemed that only Aldermen Fara and Dix attempted to help us. The rest of the council appeared to take no stand and Mr. Bell actually appeared to oppose us. Do the homeowners in the new section of Neenah think this cannot happen to them? There is no law or ordinance preventing this or any other old house from being moved any where in Neenah even to the newest subdivisions. It seems the city government of Neenah gives little protection to the people willing to invest in a new home. We see no possible remedy in the near future either. It seems unlikely, in view of this, that very many new homes will be built in an older section of the city. What will become of a section of the city if nothing new is ever built, a person does not even have to guess. We ask Mr. Bell would this be progress?

Thinking Caps Needed For Voters in April

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The state legislature this year is setting the stage for a stiff test of the civic intelligence of the Wisconsin electorate.

Wyngaard

No less than five significant constitutional amendment propositions have thus far passed their second legislative hurdle, and thus will be posted for the scrutiny of the voters in the spring elections in April.

Not all of them are especially difficult. But each of them has developed visible pro and con arguments in the legislature and in general public debate thus far and thus will command some attention and reflection from the people.

There may be one or two more before the time limit for the spring ballot arrives. Thus far the legislature has endorsed, subject to the people's will, constitutional changes to permit changes in the salaries of elective public officials who serve terms of more than four years, during their terms of office—in practical language that means judges—to permit assessment at a different scale of value of some forms of personal property, to remove the tenure restrictions upon county sheriffs, to remove the jury verdict of necessity in city and village property condemnation proceedings, and to permit a bonded debt of 10 per cent instead of 8 per cent in integrated school districts.

BIG MENU

That's an unusually heavy diet for one session in the voting booth for the average voter. Indeed, there are those who feel that so many questions may so disturb the voter that the chances of any individual issue, whatever its merits, may be lessened by the competition for the elector's attention and understanding.

There is a fairly well substantiated theory about referendum voting in the state, holding that when the voter is confused, or uncertain, he is likely to cast a nay.

The jury verdict question, the salary question, perhaps even the distinction to be made between the debt requirements of one kind of a school district over another or over the typical municipality, are reasonably technical and complex ones.

The issue of granting a tax favor to some form of personal property taxpayers, on the other hand, and surely the question of removing the two-year successive term rule for the county sheriff are relatively simpler. Yet it is conceivable that they may be hurt in the company of the other questions and that their sponsors would have chosen more wisely had they arranged for submitting them at another time, as in the elections of the following year.

THE DOUBTS

There is a school of political thought, indeed, that is skeptical of the referendum process in constitutional revision altogether.

This school doubts that the general populace ever really comprehends these questions, and it finds reinforcement for its prejudice when sometimes these propositions fail to get an endorsement in the ballot box. This correspondent's view leans more charitably—in favor of the voter's intelligence, that some pressure groups have sometimes marked off as popular ignorance may be closer to the popular will than they are willing to concede.

This ideology is typically in the forefront of the proposals for a constitutional convention for a complete rewriting of the constitution at a single sitting. That was the hope of some of the sponsors of the constitutional revision advisory commission named a year ago by Gov. Nelson. But the members of that commission turned out to be moderately cautious men. While they asked for some modifications of the amendment process that would serve to speed it if enacted, they steered clear of the wholesale revision convention idea. Presumably, therefore, Wisconsin is going to retain its step-by-step amendment rule, with specific popular ratification.

Socialists Guided Belgium Into Crisis

From The Tulsa Tribune

One of the main tenets of socialist parties in Europe is anti - colonialism. The British labor party yawped for years about the evils of the colonial system, and when it came to power in 1945 it started a liquidation of the empire that has now almost run its course, there being practically no British colonies left.

Similarly, the Belgian socialists have cast sour looks upon the imperial system and their pressure helped speed the evacuation of the Belgian government from the Congo this summer. The result of this premature liberation, as everyone knows, has been utter chaos.

But one thing that socialists cheer for even louder than for self - determination is welfare. Socialists live in a world in which the greatest good to the greatest number is judged exclusively by the extent and size of government relief checks, unemployment insurance, baby benefits, free medical care, public housing, etc.

Having lost the Congo it seemed to Belgium's Premier Gaston Eyskens that a time for belt-tightening had come. After all, the Congo, with nearly 80 times the area of Belgium, had suddenly ceased to be a national asset. After the riots much Belgian investment stood in ruins. Such a grievous blow certainly called for a slow-down in government spending.

But the socialists have reacted violently. All Belgium is in the grip of a general strike. Socialist mayors are defying a government order to turn in the names of public workers who refuse to report for duty.

And the Communists are providing the top irony. They were most active underground in pushing for Congo independence.

Wonderful, working both sides of the street.

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Feb. 28, 1861.

Harrisburg — The people of this city were astounded this morning (Feb. 23) by an announcement that Mr. Lincoln has started in a special train for Washington, dispatches having been received requiring his presence in Washington.

Reports are busily circulated that there was a plot to assassinate him while passing through Baltimore, but such stories are not believed. The Baltimore committee is here but did not have an interview with Mr. Lincoln.

Baltimore — Mr. Lincoln arrived here at 8 o'clock incognito and went direct to Washington. His family and the remainder of his party will arrive at 1 o'clock. Much excitement is occasioned by this ruse.

Washington — Not a little sensation prevailed throughout the city this morning as soon as it became known Mr. Lincoln had arrived on the early train.

It was unsuccessfully sought to conceal the fact, especially from the newspaper press, but his presence here being first communicated to a few political friends in confidence. He was met at the train by several gentlemen of distinction without any formality and was immediately driven to Willard's Hotel.

Depression May be Ancient History

BY SYLVIA PORTER

I went back to Hunter College in the heart of Manhattan a couple of days ago to participate in my alma mater's birthday celebration, and while I glanced at the thousands of faces in the assembly hall, I suddenly realized that with the exception of a few dozen of us not one person in that hall was even alive during the depression of the 1930s.

Porter

To these young adults a catastrophe which violently remolded the American economic system—and through which I lived and probably you did too—is in a category akin to "ancient history!" The depression decade probably means as little to them emotionally or intellectually as the Civil War (maybe means less). They take for granted the social and economic laws which now guide and guard their bread-and-butter lives — such as unemployment benefits, legal minimum wages, insurance of bank deposits, social security. They do not stop to think that it has been only in my generation that these laws have gone on our books.

What I am writing about here is far more than a personal anecdote, for behind this tale are implications of profound significance. Before I suggest a few, let me recall to you how it was then. . .

The Differences

We are in a recession now, the fourth since World War II, and almost 7 per cent of those able and willing to work are unemployed. But do you know how it was in 1933? Then nearly 25 per cent of our total work force were jobless —a shattering 12,900,000 out of our labor force of 51,600,000! And there were no unemployment insurance systems to help them.

We are in a period of sliding industrial production, and since last July industrial production has declined 7 per cent. But do you know what happened in the early 1930s? Between 1929 and 1933, industrial production crashed more than 50 per cent. Factories the nation over closed their doors, employers went bankrupt by the hour. And there were no federal or state programs to put them back into operation.

We have been in a declining business trend since last May — almost 11 months. But do you know how long that decline lasted? It went on for 43 months and by March, 1933, personal incomes had been slashed 49.8 per cent, retail sales had cracked 43.3 per cent, nonfarm employment had fallen 30.7 per cent, corporate "profits" were down to a minus.

Social Changes

We are noting a leveling off in the marriage total and watching the pace of the movement from farms to cities. But do you know what took place then? In 1932 the number of marriages was a quarter-million below the number in 1929. In those years the trend from farms to cities reversed and families fled to the farms.

I could go on and on underlining the extent to which 1929-33 was a depression without parallel, but enough. What are some of the implications of the comparisons to all of us?

One fundamental implication is that, in the years since then, we have learned how to prevent depressions of this magnitude — and thus, there never will be another approaching it. The "stabilizers" my generation built into our economy work to maintain incomes, sales, production, profits during downturns. We have conquered depressions.

Milder Recessions

Another fundamental implication is that we have learned how to moderate recessions too. It is no accident that the post-World War II downturns have been milder and shorter than in previous decades. We have changed our form of society and developed great controls over it.

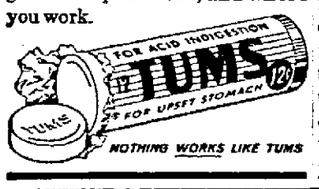

A third fundamental implication is that, as we learn more, we will do more to cushion future recessions. Our unemployment insurance system is going to be overhauled, improved. We have still to experiment with the dynamite power of tax reductions.

The business cycle is not dead — that's obvious — but it is more under our power than ever before. America's young adults today will have to meet other economic challenges and perhaps their toughest will be speeding up and sustaining our economic expansions. But, as I think it through, maybe those college youngsters are instinctively right and the depression era into which I graduated is indeed "ancient history."

UW Researcher Finds Way to Trick Cancer Cells

Compound Substituted for Vital Part, X-Rays Become More Lethal

HOUSTON, Texas—A technique for tricking cancer cells into embracing chemical compounds that make them highly sensitive to X-rays was described here by a University of Wisconsin cancer researcher.

Though human cancer cells were used in his experiments, Dr. Waclaw T. Szybalski cautioned that much work lies ahead before his method could be used to treat human cancer vicims.

Dr. Szybalski outlined his method at a University of Texas symposium on fundamental cancer research. He told of research done over the past two years at UW's McArdle Memorial Laboratory under a National Cancer Institute grant. He worked with graduate students Raymond L. Erikson and Mrs. Zofia Opara and a National Institutes of Health post-doctoral fellow, Dr. Giorgio Ragni.

Cell Changes

The experiments Dr. Szybalski described involved chemical changes in cell DNA, the cell's most important genetic material and the chemical carrier of hereditary information.

The alterations in the cell's "thread of life"—DNA—were achieved by a substitution of chemicals while the cancer cells were growing and chemically building up DNA.

The experimenters took one of three compounds: 5-chloro-; 5-bromo-; or 5-iododeoxyuridine (CUdr, BUdr, or IUdr for short) and substituted these halogenated analogs for a natural part of cell DNA called thymidine.

Cells Tricked

Dr. Szybalski's results showed that the three compounds were similar enough to the natural part of DNA that cancer cells incorporated them mistakenly into their DNA. In a sense, the cancer cells had been tricked by these chemicals-in-disguise and had let them into the very heart of their operation.

The "disguise" is apparently so good, said Dr. Szybalski, that the cell continues growing by dividing, as if nothing had happened.

However, something does happen, he said. After one or two cell divisions, it is found that the cancer cell's sensitivity to X-rays has dramatically increased. Depending on the compound substituted and its concentration, the cancer cells become two to 20 times as sensitive to radiation as they were before.

Not Dangerous

The beauty of the principle is that it would not harm normal cells surrounding a tumor. This is because normal cells rarely divide and only dividing cells, such as cancer cells, can incorporate substituted compounds in this way.

In effect, the "disguised" compounds, sneaked in by the Wisconsin investigators, had gained entry into the cancer cells and set them up for a more effective X-ray "punch," without similarly weakening surrounding normal cells.

"It's almost as if you managed to substitute some bricks that were good-looking, but weak, while a man was building a house," Dr. Szybalski said in an interview. "The house would be perfect until the slightest windstorm came along."

Dr. Szybalski and Mrs. Opara did experiments which showed why the cells became more sensitive to radiation. They used halogen-labelled, biologically active DNA in the form of the so-called "transforming principle" isolated from bacteria to show that it is the DNA in the cell that is the principal target of the killing action of radiation.

When the DNA is weakened by being built with "bad bricks," it is the DNA's sensitivity to radiation that goes up and could lead to the destruction of the cell "house."

With more investigation, Dr. Szybalski said, the findings might provide the basis for a new method of cancer treatment for those kinds of cancer which are affected by radiation.

New Uses

Aside from the possible future practical applications, he said, the use of this halogenated DNA might open up long-range possibilities for explaining the way in which DNA operates, which is a long-standing scientific mystery. Part of this large question involves the "tailoring" of hereditary characteristics, a possibility which is not much past the speculation stage at present.

Dr. Szybalski also speculated that halogenated DNA might be a tool in future investigations into some of the mysteries of life, for example, in attempts by man to manufacture life in the laboratory in the form of biologically functional, life-bearing DNA molecules.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Right—— Wrong——

Wrong, say a number of commentators. Fellowship is more important. The best thing is not to do things for others, but to live in mutual and cooperative relationships with them. Some go even further and say that unless a man lives constantly in fellowship with others, he isn't really a good person. Others take the opposite position and feel that the good person should be strong and self-sufficient. Perhaps both emphases a real place in a satisfying life. Prove this further by sending 10 cents and a stamped return envelope for the very rewarding pamphlet, "Getting Along With People." Send your requests to this column, in care of this paper.

Do 8-year-old boys know what adults expect of them?

Yes—— No——

Yes, they think they do. When Dr. Ruth Hartley asked 8 to 11 year - old boys, "What is expected of boys?" they said that grown-ups expect them—to be noisy, to get dirty, to mess up the house, to be naughty, to be outside more than girls are, not to be cry - babies, softies or "behind" like girls are, and to get into trouble more than girls do. Boys say that they are not allowed to do the things that girls usually do, but that girls may do many of the things that boys do.

High Court Upholds Contempt Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Supreme Court today upheld the contempt of congress conviction of Frank Wilkinson, who refused to tell a house subcommittee on un-American activities whether he was a Communist.

Wilkinson, of Los Angeles, is field secretary for the National Committee to Abolish the House Un-American Acitivities Committee. He was questioned at a subcommittee hearing July 30, 1958, in Atlanta, when the group was investigating communist activities in the south.

Justice Stewart delivered the 5-4 decision.

MENASHA — Menasha will meet Waupaca, and Neenah will tangle with Winneconne Thursday night as the long tournament grind will begin for the four Menasha sub-regional entries.

The winners will meet Friday night and the Menasha sub-regional winner will play the Berlin sub-regional champion Saturday night for a berth in the Neenah sectional.

Late-Season Slump

Coach Clem Massey's Bluejays will get an opportunity to redeem themselves after suffering a late-season slump. Menasha whipped three strong opponents in pre-season play but faded to a 6-8 mark in the Mid-Eastern Conference.

Injuries plagued Massey in his first season as head coach of the Jays. High-scoring Dave Ristau and strong-rebounding Bill Ritchie were both physically under-par in several crucial games. Both are reported ready to go now.

Menasha finished the season with a 9-8 over-all record with its high point being a 71-70 victory over third-ranked Manitowoc

In addition to Ristau and Ritchie, Tom Steinmetz, Bill Prange, and John Matowitz will be the tentative starters Massey has 15 varsity members but will have to cut his squad to 12 by Thursday evening.

The Waupaca Comets hail from the Central Wisconsin Conference where they boasted of a 9-5 record, good for second place. The team's over-all mark is 10-8. The Comets lost their only game against a Mid-Eastern Conference foe this season, dropping a 57-54 decision to Clintonville.

Eye Second Win

St John will be eyeing its second straight victory after snapping a 16 game losing streak in its final regular season contest.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick's cagers put on an amazing comeback to decision St Mary Springs, 68-64, last week With as little as 53 seconds left in the game the Dutchmen trailed by five points but roared back to post their initial triumph

St Gregory sports a better season record than the Chuters but their competition has not been as strong The little St. Nazianz school has a 9-8 mark and closed out its regular campaign with a pair of victories

Common Foe

The only common foe the two teams have played is Lourdes of Oshkosh Lourdes defeated both twice during the regular season. St Gregory lost to the Knights, 62-43 and 80-36 The Dutchmen were dumped by Lourdes, 67-58 and 82-57

Teams St Gregory has defeated include Howards Grove, Waldo, Winnebago Lutheran, Manitowoc Lutheran and Salvatorian Seminary. Some of the teams the squad has lost to are Reedsville, Stockbridge and Francis Jordan.

Joe Weber and Dick Twohig have paced St Gregory in scoring with 177 points each Vic Schnell has recorded 157, Louis Salm, 133 and Ralph Kueler, 132.

St Gregory has a better season average per game than the Dutchmen St Gregory hit a team total of 852 points for an average of 50 1 for each of its 17 games.

Average 42.9

St John scored 729 points in 17 games for an average of 42 9. The St Nazianz club allowed opponents 872 points while the Chuters gave up 1,083

UW Solidifies Its Hold on Eighth Place

Hughbanks, Gwyn, Dutrisac Pace Victory Over Wolves

MADISON (AP) — Tom Gwyn and Dick Dutrisac provided the Wisconsin sparkle for an otherwise so-so Big Ten Conference basketball game Monday night as the Badgers defeated Michigan 76-68

The triumph gave Wisconsin a firm hold on eighth place in the standings with its 3-8 record and left Michigan at 1-10

Gwyn came up with five important points for the Badgers in the final minutes and 26 seconds with Wisconsin ahead 67-64 He sank a free throw, missed the bonus to have teammate Ron Jackson score on the rebound, then sank a lay-up and a short shot to give Wisconsin a wider lead in a belated stall.

Dutrisac was sent in for Jackson to keep an eye on Michigan star John Tidwell after he had chipped in 15 points for the Wolverines. Dutrisac, who has been in and out of the starting lineup all season, held Tidwell to one basket and three gift shots in the final 16 minutes Dutrisac also made six of 11 shots and one free throw to wind up with 13.

Tom Hughbanks powered Wisconsin's scoring with 17 points, 12 of them on field goals and hit five-for-five from the free throw line.

Michigan was off to a fast lead and was in front for the first 15 minutes But Lonnie Ostrom of Wisconsin, a sophomore substitute forward, hit a 10-foot jump shot for Wisconsin to move the score to 26-25 for the Badgers as they took command.

Appleton's Treiber Named To All-FRVC Cage Team

Paul Meany and Esther 'Repeat'; Zipperer, Huibregtse Also Picked

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Pete Treiber, the latest in a long line of outstanding Appleton High School backcourtmen, has been named to the 1960-1 all-Fox River Valley Conference basketball team.

Treiber is one of four seniors chosen unanimously for the all-conference team by the Fox River Valley Sportswriters Association The others, picked here Monday night, are Manitowoc's Paul Meany and Al Zipperer and Sheboygan North's Chuck Huibregtse.

The fifth all-FRVC player is Fond du Lac's Al Esther, who garnered 11 points of a maximum of 16 in the voting.

Treiber, by far the highest-scoring guard in the conference (16 1 average), is a springy rebounder, a devastating driver and a good defender. He follows in the all-FRVC tradition of such former Terror guards as John Nussbaum, Jack Ulwelling, Jim Schulze, "Duke" Krabbe, Bob Goemans and Gene Rosenbohm.

Appleton's Marty Schultz was selected to the 1960-1 second-team forecourt. A topnotch all-round player, Schultz has few peers as a rebounder. Schultz finished ninth in FRVC scoring, with a 12.1 average.

AHS' Dick Rankin, one of the league's most improved players and the eighth high scorer, was accorded honorable mention.

Treiber, who did not play regularly last season, is the only real newcomer among the league's elite. The fabulous Meany is a unanimous choice for the second successive year and Esther is another repeat first-teamer.

Huibregtse and Zipperer moved up from last season s second team.

The choice of Zipperer, a brilliant floor-man and playmaker, represents the only deviation from the first team's accent on high scoring Meany (320 points), Huibregtse (281), Treiber (226) and Esther (223) ranked first through fourth in 1960-1 point-making

The only exception to all-senior first and second teams is North's Bill Dwyre, a junior guard, ho narrowly won a second-team berth.

Meany and Zipperer are the first teammates to merit all-FRVC honors since Green Bay East's Tom Hughbanks and By Prentice were tapped in 1957-8.

Wisconsin Legislature Cites Packers for Division Championship

Bays Sign Pair Of Free Agents From Louisiana

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Packers' Western Division championship is now "official"

Coach Vince Lombardi and the Packers have received a citation by the Wisconsin legislature for winning the 1960 title

The legislature action was launched, appropriately enough, by a motion of Packerland lawmakers Leo P. O Brien and Robert D. Haase.

"Whereas, the 1960 Green Bay Packer football team won the championship of the Western Division of the National Football League, now, therefore, be it resolved on the motion of Senator Leo P. O'Brien and Assemblyman Robert D. Haase under joint rule 26, that the legislature extend to the Green Bay Packers and their Coach, Mr. Vince Lombardi, their congratulations on winning the 1960 championship of the Western Division of the National Football League and on the meteoric rise of the Green Bay Packers as a power in professional football."

2 Free Agents

On the new-player front, Lombardi announced Monday the signing of two free agents who played football in Louisiana.

They are Danny Bridges, a 6-2, 200-pound quarterback from Southwestern Louisiana University, and Bob Beaver, a full-blooded Indian who played guard at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Bridges is 22 and a chemistry major. He throws exceptionally well and likes to run with the ball

Beaver, who hails from Okmulgee, Okla, stands 6-2 and packs 240 pounds The newcomer played center in his first two years and was transferred to guard because of his size and speed

Col. O. C. Krueger starts officially as manager of Packer operations in Milwaukee Wednesday. His office will be at the Packer ticket headquarters in County Stadium.

Jim Kensil, a sportswriter for the Associated Press, has been named director of public relations for the National Football League. Kensil, 30, succeeds Joe Labrum, 65, who retires next month after 15 years of service. Kensil had been with the AP for seven years. Labrum, former Penn University publicist, was brought into the league when the late Bert Bell became commissioner in 1946.

The board of directors will hold a preliminary meeting at 6 30 p.m.

Braves' Fielders Join Batterymen in Drills

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Milwaukee manager Charlie Dressen had all his pitchers — including Lew Burdette—on hand today as the fielders joined batterymen for their first official taste of Spring training.

Burdette, who had been due with other hurlers and catchers for their start of training last week, ended his brief holdout Monday by signing his contract. His reported salary: a tidy $40,000 or thereabouts.

Despite the appearance of Burdette, Dressen conceded that the Los Angeles Dodgers, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates are stronger than the Braves now in pitching Never a pessimist, however Dressen thinks the Braves can mold a solid mound staff behind veterans Burdette, Warren Spahn and Bob Buhl. He quickly named off Carl Willey, his choice for the No 4 starting assignment, reliever Don McMahon, and Ron Piche, Don Nottebart, rookie southpaw Bob Hendley, George Brunet, Ken MacKenzie, Bob Botz, Cecil Butler and Denver Lemaster as probable pitching staff members.

Dressen spoke highly of rookies Botz and Lemaster, but most observers still feel that the Braves are going to have to swing a deal for a proven major league pitcher.

"If they don't, Spahn is due to break all existing records for innings pitched," one person predicted.

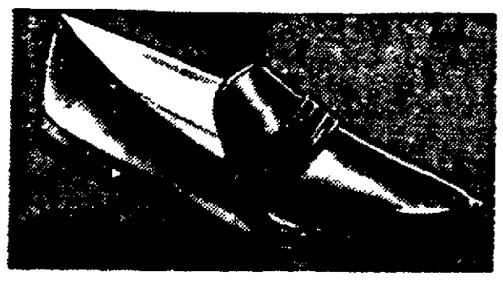

Joining Burdette in the fold was infielder Billy Martin, a veteran purchased from the Cincinnati Reds during the off season. Martin's signing left only Wes Covington, Joe Adcock, Felix Mantilla, catcher Joe Torre and Merrit Ranew still dissatisfied with terms offered

Dressen planned his first intra-squad game of the season for today with pitchers and catchers manning most positions

River Falls salvaged a wee bit from a dismal season with its victory while champion Stevens Point was upended by Platteville Monday night in windups of Wisconsin State College Conference basketball competition.

Loser of 11 straight in conference play, River Falls defeated Stout 85-74 as Marv Hillman and Gary Simsonson set the pace in breaking a 29-all deadlock. Hillam wound up with 26 points and Simonson 22.

Platteville managed to even its conference record at 6-6 by snapping a tie in the final minute for a 75-73 triumph over Stevens Point, which clinched the State College Conference title last Saturday. Stevens Point wound up with a 10-2 mark against league rivals.

Oshkosh finished conference play with a 4-8 mark by cruising to a 107-97 decision over the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Ron Stanton's 30 points weren't enough to offset the Oshkosh attack, led by Tom Frederich with 23. UWM, the 1960 conference champion, concluded with a 5-7 record.

New York — Ted Wright, 153¼, Detroit, stopped Garnet Hart, 159½, Philadelphia, 9.

Wilma Rudolph Hailed At Milwaukee Event

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Olympic champion Wilma Rudolph, whose graceful movements belie her blazing speed afoot, was hailed as citizen and sports great Monday at a luncheon honoring her as the Female Athlete of the Year in 1960.

The 20-year-old Tennessee State junior who captured three gold medals in the Olympic Games at Rome was presented the fraternal order of Eagles-Frederick C. Miller trophy awarded annually on the basis of The Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Johnson Grounded

Rafer Johnson, the 1960 Male Athlete of the Year, was grounded in Los Angeles by a reservation backlog caused by the recent airlines strike and was unable to make the civic luncheon. His trophy will be shipped to him.

Tom Rosandich, a suburban Milwaukee high school teacher who is a track and field expert abroad for the State Department, praised Miss Randolph as "an amateur athlete dedicated to do something for her country."

Ted Smits, Associated Press general sports editor who has directed AP Olympic Games coverage since World War II, declared that "even the Russians said this girl was the best athlete—man or woman—in the Olympics."

Recreation Work

Miss Rudolph, a slender, 5-11 sprint star who overcame polio as a child, said she plans to "go into some kind of recreation work so that the United States can remain on top."

Miss Rudolph made a runaway in the balloting for Female Athlete of the Year award after winning 100- and 200-meter dashes and anchoring the U. S. 400-meter relay team to victory in the Olympics. Johnson, Olympic champion in the gruelling decathlon, barely edged pro golf great Arnold Palmer for the male athlete honor.

Marquette Gains At-Large Berth in NCAA Tournament

Warriors Will Open Against Houston; Kentucky Wins Again

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kansas State's Wildcats and the young Warriors of Marquette have joined the lineup for the NCAA basketball championships, bringing to eight the number of schools set for the 24-team national tournament next month.

Kansas State clinched the Big Eight Conference's assignment in the tournament, whipping Nebraska 77-67 Monday night—an hour or so before Marquette announced acceptance of a bid to play as an at-large team in the NCAA's Midwest regional.

It's possible the Wildcats, now 19-4 and ranked seventh nationally, and the erratic Warriors, 12-9, will wind up playing each other in the second round of the tournament.

Eddie Hickey's Marquette club, making its third NCAA appearance, will play another at-large selection, Houston, at Houston March 15. The winner will advance to the Midwest regional at Lawrence, Kan., March 17 against Kansas State in a doubleheader that will also match the Missouri Valley and the Southwest Conference champions.

Still Leads

Texas Tech, still leading the Southwest Conference, failed in its bid to join the NCAA lineup Monday night—losing 95-91 in overtime to Rice at Houston. Tech at 10-3, has clinched at least a tie for the SWC title but Arkansas and Texas A&M both are 9-4 and could share the title and force a playoff or coin flip unless Tech beats defending champion Texas in its last loop game on Thursday.

Kentucky, on an eight-game winning streak in a desperate bid for an NCAA berth: Iowa, Mississippi State, Vanderbilt, Xavier of Ohio, DePaul and New Mexico State won other key games on Monday night's college program.

Kentucky, with Ned Jennings scoring 23 points and Billy Ray Lickert 21, crushed Auburn 77-51 for a 9-4 Southeastern Conference victory with one game left. Vanderbilt matched Kentucky at 9-4 with one to go, beating Georgia 87-76 and their duel for the runner up spot took some of the spotlight from Mississippi State, which clinched the Southeastern Conference title with an 11-2 record after clipping Tulane 62 57.

Mississippi State, now 19-4 overall, will not play in the NCAA tourney because of the unwritten state law against competition with Negroes. As a result, the next eligible team in line—Vanderbilt or Kentucky—will draw the tournament assignment.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

John Glenn Jr. Still Impressed By Each New Launching

May be First of Astronauts to Take History-Making Space Ride

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — In the gray dawn one day this spring — if all goes according to plan — a good-looking young man will walk across the concrete deck of launch pad 26A with the bright lights of this spaceport gleaming on his silver space suit.

He'll climb the stairs of a red and white tower to a cramped, bell-shaped capsule. He'll wiggle through the hatch and settle into a couch fitted to every contour of his body.

The hatch will close, and his earphones will buzz as the countdown progresses on the 63-foot Redstone rocket beneath him.

When the seconds tick away to zero, he will feel a tremendous jolt as the powerful Redstone engine ignites.

If all goes right, the capsule will hurtle 115 miles high and land 290 miles down the Atlantic tracking range 16 minutes after blastoff. Peak speed will be 4,200 miles an hour.

In 1957 he became the first man to fly supersonically from Los Angeles to New York, covering the distance in 3 hours 23 minutes in an F8U jet. He later became familiar to television viewers when he won $25,000 on a quiz program, "Name That Tune."

Last week Glenn — a powerful athletic type with close-cropped reddish hair and green eyes— found himself a step closer to new adventure.

'First' Aspect

"I wouldn't trade places with any guy in the world," said the colonel at a news conference. "We've been looking forward to this day for some time. And it's an understatement to say that I'm happy. However we've tried to play down the 'first' aspect.

"We have continually thought of ourselves as a seven-man team. The nearer we got to launch day, the more important each member of the team becomes."

The four astronauts not chosen for the first test will be eligible for later, perhaps even more ambitious, space missions.

"Actually the second, third and fourth flights may accomplish far more scientifically than the first flight does," Glenn commented.

"That first mission is going to be a sort of 'Oh, gee whiz, look at me, here I am maw' type of deal. The second flight, once a man has been briefed on what to expect, should accomplish a lot more.

Whether the next capsule will be manned is being determined now by NASA officials studying data from the last Redstone test, which boosted Ham the space chimp on a successful 156 miles high flight.

Rigorous Training

The rigorous training the astronauts have undergone at various test centers across the country has upset normal family life "I've spent so much time on the road," Glenn said, "that I've had to be re-introduced to my wife and two kids."

His wife is the former Anna Margaret Caster of New Concord. The children are John David, 14, and Carolyn, 13.

Glenn has trimmed down from 208 to 168 pounds since his space flight training began 22 months ago. Running two miles each day on the sandy beach south of Cape Canaveral when he is here helps keep him in shape. He also enjoys water skiing and boating.

Like the other space candidates he watches as many missile launchings as possible at the cape.

"The more familiar you are with the shots" he says, "the less awesome they seem. But I don't think they'll ever stop being impressive, particularly if you think of yourself sitting there on top of the rocket waiting to be shot into space."

Like other kibitzers on the cape, John Herschell Glenn has watched many a rocket shot, never ceased being impressed by the spectacle. His interest is personal. He's one of the three men selected for America's first manned space flight. This is the first of three articles on the trio.

This young space pilot will become the man of the hour. His name will be recorded in headlines and history books.

The glory will go to one of three men: John Herschel Glenn Jr., Virgil Ivan Grissom or Alan Bartlett Shepard Jr. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has selected this trio to train for the United States' first manned suborbital flight, expected in April or May. All are brilliant men, skilled test pilots and extraordinary physical specimens.

Most Experienced

The oldest, most experienced of the group is Glenn, 39, a Marine Lieutenant Colonel from New Concord, Ohio.

Like Grissom and Shepard, Glenn is an expert at wringing the bugs out of all types of aircraft.

He has chalked up more than 5,100 hours flying time, 1,600 in jets. He flew 59 fighter bomber missions in the Pacific in World War II and 100 missions in Korea, gunning down three Communist MIGs near the Yalu River in the last nine days of fighting. He holds five Distinguished Flying Crosses and an Air Medal with 18 clusters.

High-Ranking Soviet Official Defends Thomas for Losing

NEW YORK (AP) —A high-ranking Soviet athletic official today came to the defense of John Thomas for losing two epic high jumping duels with Russia's Valery Brumel.

"Look at it this way," said Leonid Khomenkov, chief of the Russian version of the AAU, through an interpreter. "Put Brumel and Thomas in a petition with any other high jumper in the world. The other jumper would automatically wind up third. Either Brumel or Thomas would win every time."

In their two meetings indoors here, the 18-year-old Brumel has come out on top both times. In the New York Athletic Club games, he got over 7 feet 3 inches to 7-1 for Thomas. Last Saturday, in the National AAU championships, he cleared 7-2 to 7 feet for Thomas.

They meet for the third and last time this season on boards Friday in the Knights of Columbus meet in Madison Square Garden.

"Why is Thomas being criticized so?" asked Khomenkov in wonder. "To talk about his shortcomings and try to make him a better jumper — all right. We should do that with all of them.

"But to openly scold him because he has lost two meets — that is unfair."

Geoffrion Opens 7-Point Lead In NHL Scoring

MONTREAL (AP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, of the Montreal Canadiens, has widened his lead in the National Hockey League scoring race to seven points and appears to be a good bet to win the crown.

Geoffrion now has 40 goals and 42 assists, after adding two goals and two assists last week. His closest rivals are Frank Mahovlich of the Toronto Maple Leafs and Jean Beliveau, his line-mate with the Canadiens.

Beliveau also scored two goals and two assists last week to move up into a tie with Mahovlich, who was held to two assists, according to official league statistics.

Mahovlich has 45 goals and 30 assists while Beliveau has 28 goals and 47 assists.

Paris Designers Show Breezy, Airy Silhouettes for Spring, Summer

This Youthful Two-Piece dress in green wool with pleated skirt is from the spring and summer collection of Paris designer Guy Laroche. The bow scarf is in red and green striped silk. The green wool cloche hat matches the dress. Below, a slim, nine-tenths coat in black, gray and white plaid with a long cape back, tops a dress of white leather in this ensemble by Parisian designer Jacques Heim. A Heim-Svent hat, also of white leather, completes the outfit for spring wear.

BY NADINE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Most of the women who will wear them got their first look at the latest fashions from Paris today.

If they agree with enthusiastic buyers this season, Paris can rack up another popular success.

The designers are out to please with a breezy, easy silhouette—easy to wear, easy on the eyes, but definitely not easy to copy. Men are supposed to like short skirts, so they should be happy, too.

Interpreting Styles

Reports from the end of January openings often mentioned the flapper or 1920s trend, particularly in the top-of-the-season collections of Dior and Ricci. But pictures from the openings, released today for publication, prove that the designers are not merely copying a worn-out style, but interpreting it in a way that looks new and modern. Resemblance to the 1920s comes in short skirts, often showing a glimpse of the knees, and in a waistless or long, loose-waisted look.

Pierre Cardin cut his cloth looser than anyone else for his off-the-figure sarongs. Lanvin's Castillo bucked the general trend for low-flaring skirts with his down-tapering "ace of diamonds" silhouette.

One thing all the designers agree on is a fitted hipline, and with one or two minor exceptions, a flat-chested look which also harks back to flapper fashions.

Breezy Air

The breezy, wind-blown air that all the designers tried for is carried out in pleated and flared short skirts with blousy semi-fitted tops, and in such thin, airy materials as silk crepes, chiffons and organzas.

The fresh, pale colors add to it, too: pinks, peach, apricot, mint and lime green, absinthe and daffodil yellow, cherry red, light blues and white, with some black and white combinations and pale beige, gray and navy for day wear.

The designers can take polka dots or leave them alone. Patou and Balmain sprinkled in a few giant spots. Floral printed chiffons are so pretty they seldom failed to draw applause. One of the most attractive ideas is floral chiffon dresses with matching unlined coats, highly transparent and really light as a breeze.

Short Hair Styles

Dressmakers, incidentally, set hat and hair styles, and this time they've come out, almost to a man, for short cuts that have a feathery softness or finger-combed look. Hats are feather light and varied in size from great big (at Cardin and Ricci) to saucer-sized (Balmain and Patou).

Costume jewelry is not heaped on so lavishly as usual. Dior goes for colored crystal multi-strand necklaces. Lanvin-Castillo's trademark is a jeweled bow or clip perched right on the tip of the shoulder. Ricci's Jules Crahay designed long pendant pearl earrings as a prop for his vamps.

Houndstooth Check Is featured in this gray and white wool dress costume of Pierre Cardin of Paris for spring and summer. The jacket has a wide collar and bow fastening. At left, reshaped but still reminiscent of the chemise is this cocktail dress by Jacques Heim. The dress is in fuchsia gauze with three rows of matching ostrich feathers at the bottom.

Crystal and White Pearl embroidery gives a sparkling touch to this long evening dress in green surah in the 1961 spring and summer collection of Paris designer Jacques Heim. The wrap is in green zibeline.

Your Problems

Ann Tells Wife Not to Quit Ship Just Before it Comes in

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has a fine voice. He'd rather sing than eat and that's the problem. If he'd sing less he would eat better.

Ann Landers

Chuck works part - time because he must be free to rehearse at odd hours with vising choral groups. He also takes singing engagements for luncheon clubs which means a cut-up day.

We've been married 12 years and have three children. If I didn't work full time we'd never make it. Chuck is a wonderful husband and father except for this one fault. I want him to stop the music nonsense so I can relax a little. He says I agreed to this arrangement before we married, which is right — I did. But now I'm ready to tell him to quit singing the Road To Mandalay and take it. What's your advice? — Tone Deaf

Dear Deaf: Stop beating yourself — eight to the bar. You made a bargain, now stick to it.

A wife doesn't tell a wonderful husband and father to take the road to Mandalay because he works only part-time and she must help out. Many talented stars who rake in the loot by the bushel-basket struggled for a long time before they hit it big. It could happen to Chuck.

DEAR ANN: What can be done about a close friend who is nice in many ways but who has a habit that drives me buggy? This woman will interrupt everyone and anyone to express her own views. She never waits for the speaker to draw a breath, much less finish a sentence. She just sails right in.

I've seen people try without success to get back to what they were saying before she interrupted. This woman is so skilled at taking over a conversation that it's virtually impossible to wrest the floor from her. Is there an answer? — Cut Short

Dear Cut Short: First — how important is the friendship? It occurs to me that this overpowering, all-knowing type might not be worth the effort it takes to get along with her.

If you want to effect a cure there's only one way. When she cuts in just continue to talk—in a louder voice and ignore her. If she's still with it after three or four sentences say: "You have a bad habit of interruptnig people. I wish you would be courteous enough to let me finish — then you may have the floor."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm almost 18 and went steady with a boy for two years. I thought it was love and nobody could tell me different. I went too far with him, but I was very lucky. I got off scot-tree, except for my conscience.

Now I'm going with another fellow (I'll call him Dick) who treats me with the greatest respect. I feel guilty about my first boy friend but I think if I told Dick all about it he would be very disappointed in me.

I've asked my mother's advice and she says I should not tell Dick about the other fellow because it is none of his business. Furthermore, she says men sometimes throw up the past after a few years. I promise to do as you say. Please advise me. — Louisville Lou

Dear Lou: Your mother gave you good advice. Take it.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

PUZZLES AT PARTY

Party games bore my husband and myself at best, but recently we experienced a new low when our hostess made us all work complicated and difficult written puzzles all evening. It wasn't fun for anybody so do you think she should have forced them on us?

Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

No. She should have thought twice, thrice, 10 times before subjecting her guests to such a pastime. She should have been sure beyond any doubt that each guest would enjoy it. She undoubtedly was carried away with such enthusiasm that she couldn't be objective. Many people perform brain-twisters in business all day long that their brains need unknotting with other kinds of recreation after working hours. A perfect hostess is thoughtful and has a way of knowing or guessing her guests' likes, dislikes and even idiosyncracies. She isn't likely to serve escargots (snails) at a dinner party because she herself adores them and therefore thinks that everybody else should adore them too.

AFTER DINNER COFFEE

At a dinner party recently, the hostess served demitasse in the living room following dessert There was no cream pitcher on the tray and since I like my coffee with cream, I asked for some. This sent the hostess to the kitchen. Don't you think that the perfect hostess would provide cream or was I out of order?

Louise Davis Answers:

Yes to both of your questions. Traditionally, demitasse is served without cream.

Fake Cue Bid Might Steal Slam

Each article this week is on slam bidding, a field in which even experts often flounder. One reason for the trouble is that the world is so full of fibbers.

What sort of slam try should South make after North's jump to three hearts? There's no great virtue in bidding four no trump, since South is no better off when he discovers that North has one ace.

Opening lead — ♠ 2

A solid citizen bids four diamonds, suggesting a slam and promising strength in the suit (usually the ace). North cannot afford to get past game with minimum values for the jump to three hearts, so he signed off at four hearts.

Now if South wants to make another try, he bids four spades. This makes it clear that his weakness is in the unbid club suit.

North would bid six hearts if he had the ace of diamonds and king of clubs. As it is, he bids five diamonds to show the ace.

South scrambles back to five hearts, and the weakness is clear to everybody at the table. West leads a club, and the defenders take their two tricks.

Bidding Too Solid

In the words of Shakespeare, this bidding is too, too solid. If South is a real cool cat, he will bid four clubs at his second turn. This bid suggests a slam and "promises" club strength, presumably the ace.

North innocently shows the ace of diamonds on the way to four hearts. If North had been unable to show this ace, South would have stopped at game. As it is, South jumps to slam.

Don't call me up to say that the slam can be beaten by a club lead. I know. These opening leads are easier to find in a newspaper hand than at the bridge table. When the full census figures are published it will be seen that in 1960 alone nearly three million slams were made west of the Mississippi by fake cue bids.

Just a word of advice if you decide to try a phony cue bid. Keep your voice normal and your face relaxed. If you can't fib convincingly, stick to the truth.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 2 NT. and the next player passes. You hold: S—K Q 7 4 H—Q 10 6 5 D—A J 7 C—9 5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three clubs, the Stayman convention. This asks partner to show a major suit if he can. You will raise three spades or three hearts to six; and if partner has no major suit, you will jump to six no trump.

Inquiry About Use Of Rollers

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

ROLLERS FOR PAINTING SIDING

Q: We want to paint our wood house siding, using rollers. How many sizes of rollers will we need?

A: Two sizes are usually required for painting siding: a wide one to coat the surface of the boards and a doughnut-shaped one for the lap joints. Be sure paint is of proper consistency.

ENOUGH OXYGEN

Q: My basement, approximately 20 feet by 5 feet, has a gas-fired furnace and a gas water heater and a window. Ceiling is about 8 feet high. Friends have questioned whether there is an ample oxygen supply for the two gas burners—especially in cold weather when furnace light is on high most of the time. (Window's pretty tight). I don't like to leave the window open because it would be unlocked. I am thinking of boring a couple of holes through the glass. What do you suggest? Walls are concrete block.

A: Your basement, according to your dimensions, sounds kind of confined and I am inclined to agree with those who question your oxygen supply when the furnace is going. But, instead of drilling holes in the glass, why don't you have a mason knock out a section of the concrete block, one on each side, and put in a fixed, screened louver for more ventilation?

STAINED RUG

Q: I needed a rug and some nice people donated one to me. But there are rust spots and a lipstick spot on it. How can I remove these spots?

A: If these spots are just on the surface, on the edge of the rug fibers, try snipping off the ends of the fibers with a manicure scissors; this is frequently enough to remove the stains or at least make them a lot less conspicuous. Not all brown spots are rust, which is difficult to remove and usually requires a professional. Try sponging the rust spot with a solution of 1 teaspoon of a neutral detergent in a quart of warm water to which one teaspoon of white vinegar has been added. Allow to remain 4 to 5 minutes, then sponge off with clear water and blot dry with clean cloth. For lipstick spot: Apply nonflammable liquid spot remover (being sure room is well ventilated), repeat until color is removed. Then sponge with same solution as for rust, and follow same procedure. When rug is thoroughly dry, brush the pile up with soft brush. I suggest sending to American Carpet Institute, Inc., 350 Fifth Ave., New York 1, N.Y., for copy of free booklet "Care of Your Rugs and Carpet."

BY ELIZABETH HILLYER

Room Success From Simple Beginnings

Sometimes the best plan is to make haste slowly. If you're not entirely sold on your own decorating skill, keep the first elements of a room simple, and it's more likely to turn out to be a resounding success. Start with a few gently harmonious colors, a minimum of furniture, and never mind if the effect at first seems too plain.

Punch colors can be added. So can more furniture, and it's so much easier to know what the smaller pieces should be once the major pieces are established. An intriguing, unusual design may be safe enough to add if the room isn't too complicated already. The same is true of accessories. The room is better off with almost no accessories at all until the right ones can be plotted—they can be imaginative indeed if they don't compete with a complicated background. From simple beginnings, the room can gradually develop to successful completion, and from the practical standpoint, the slow but surer plan saves mistakes and money.

Moving to a new home? Find out beforehand how the old furniture will fit and what new furniture is needed. Plot it all on paper as the professional decorator does. Elizabeth Hillyer's FURNITURE ARRANGEMENT KIT provides everything you need, floor plan paper, 126 furniture pointers on good arrangement. # Precautions Can Lessen Chance of Heart Trouble

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

There's a song about "accentuate the positive," but from where I sit, I can see good reason for giving at least a fair share of emphasis to things that are probable if not positive.

Molner

I mention this because I want to discuss what we can do to protect against having a coronary thrombosis — see yesterday's column if you missed it and are interested. And who isn't interested in heart attacks, including me?

Hardening of the arteries is part of the problem — but we all have some degree of that as we grow to maturity. It's as natural as gray hair, wrinkles and boredom with some of the activities that were so fascinating to us when you and I were young, Maggie.

Dr. Paul Dudley White thinks the habit of regular exercise is important — that instead of spending so much time sitting down when we reach the age of 30, more or less, we ought to keep on being active. I think he's right, contrary to the thoughts voiced by a few who don't think exercise is important if you don't feel like it.

Obesity Dangerous

Yes, I think it's important — albeit I feel adequately certain that it does little good and may do great harm for somebody to try to leap into a life of athletics all of a sudden after he has spent 20 or 30 years sitting around and getting soft and short-winded.

Getting fat? Definitely a danger. If nothing else, it puts the heart to work harder than it should need to work, because there's that much more blubber which must be served with circulation.

Does obesity itself help "cause" a heart attack? Perhaps this would be hard to prove but we know, very definitely, that on the average lean people outlive the overly plump ones. Even though I know lean folks who have had heart attacks, the useful fact is that not as many of them have attacks and they tend to recover more easily.

Diet? Here again I can't point to any individual and say, "He avoided heart trouble by eating the right diet," but there's enough evidence to impress me. This matter of fat in the diet, cholesterol and so on. It's obvious that we don't know the whole story of fat, cholesterol and sludge-laden arteries, but there's enough probability to make me think it's wise to take it a little easy on eating too much fat.

Drugs Can Help

Perhaps it's something that will have its effect over generations—maybe 30 or 40 years. Certainly I do not think there is any sort of juice, seed, drug or medicine that will prevent, cure or correct hardened arteries.

I don't pretend to understand how too much stress and strain and worry contribute to physical damage. Yet I've seen it happen. I can do a better job of explaining why lack of sleep is harmful or how anti-coagulant drugs, properly used in the right cases, can help.

Altogether, I will say flatly that we certainly don't know nearly enough about coronary thrombosis and its causes, but I will say most sincerely that I'm sure that what we know already is enough to make quite a dent in the problem of heart disease if only we will use it. Too many of us ignore the probabilities and ultimately we pay for it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is cancer contagious? Grandfather has cancer of the tongue. He insists on giving his grandchildren a hug and kiss. — R.O."

We have no reason to believe that cancer is contagious, so I wouldn't worry about that. However, with an advanced case there is likely to be some degree of secondary infection. I would discourage mouth-to-mouth kissing as a safeguard against any lesser infection which may be harbored by the cancerous area.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. I have a Cebus monkey who won't eat the things he should. Is there any thing I can do about it? Mrs. Morris, New Jersey.

A. The Cebus, or Ring Tail, is the most popular of pet monkeys and is endowed with a high degree of intelligence. As an animal's I.Q. rises, he becomes more definite in his likes and dislikes. Trying to force him to eat things which you believe to be good for him (but which he dislikes intensely) will only cause resentment. Offer him fruits, vegetables and meat and give him vitamins and minerals in some taste-pleasing form. This is all he really needs. Don't force him. That old saying: "You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink," got to be such an old saying because it's true.

Moller at 9846 Manchester Road, St. Louis 19, Mo. He will answer selected inquiries in his column, but cannot reply to them.)

Mistakes Sow Seeds of Recessions

Economist Describes Bases of Cyclical Nature of Trouble

A recession was termed the "reflection of cumulative errors of men's judgment" by Dr. A. Neil McLeod, Institute of Paper Chemistry economist, Monday night.

McLeod

McLeod spoke on the history and causes of recessions to about 75 people at the third of four YMCA business and industry forums. Lloyd Taylor was chairman.

The present recession, now generally granted, seems to have started about last July during a period of ups and downs, the economist said. This one should not be as serious as the recession of 1937 to 1939, he said, because the boom period before it was not big, but it will probably be longer and harder than the one immediately after World War II.

The three recession periods since the war have generally been of short duration, he said. The term itself was coined for the 1937 business low to avoid calling it part of the big depression.

Recession Periods

Recessions can generally be measured in 40-month periods "in which we made and corrected mistakes," the economist said. The seeds are being sewn now for a new recession in 1964 and '65, he said.

McLeod illustrated the recession cycle by an explanation of the change in inventories. When business begins getting bad, inventories still grow despite a desire to hold them. Then liquidation starts and goods are passed off on someone else. When sales increase and the low inventory situation won't support them, inventories must be increased again and the cycle is complete.

"You can't prevent a recession as long as men make mistakes," he said. "To predict is impossible, but to consider possibilities is prudent."

Yardsticks

Yardsticks for measuring a recession, such as the gross national product and unemployment figures, are not as precise as they may seem, the economist said.

The gross national product measures the money value of all goods and services produced in the country but does not include such things as do-it-yourself services. Unemployment figures also are estimates in that they are based on a sample survey of 35,000 households.

In the past, governmental action has stretched out recession periods, McLeod said. "If we want this recession to get fixed, we'd better start hurrying before help comes," he said.

The biggest need now, McLeod said, is for skilled people with increasingly large chunks of capital at their disposal.

Council Sets Hearing on Zone Changes

Requested for Kaukauna Shopping Center Construction

KAUKAUNA — The common council set a public hearing for 7 p.m. March 21 for changes in city zoning regulations to permit construction of a neighborhood shopping center on the southside of the city.

The hearing was requested by Richard, Mathilda and Joseph Lehrer.

The hearing will concern deleting the proposed extension of Lehrer Lane from the proposed 20th Street south to the city limits and rezoning a parcel of land bounded by Crooks Avenue, the south city limits line, Lehrer Lane and 18th Street from local shopping to central business district.

Third Item

The third item to be considered will be a piece of land between the south line of the proposed 20th Street and the south city limits line and extending from the west line of Lehrer Lane to a point 242 feet east.

The planning commission has investigated all requests and recommended the changes. The Lehrers made the request on behalf of the Retail Development Corp. which indicated the shopping center would not be constructed as one large unit but as rather individual stores.

Changes in residential zoning were requested to permit adequate parking facilities. The central business district zoning is asked to permit hardware and paint stores to be built in the shopping center. These types of stores are not included under local shopping zone regulations.

The city map must be changed to permit use of some land area which previously was earmarked for future street construction.

Seek Complaints in Police Chief Case

Attorney to Get Citizens' Statements

MENASHA — Mayor John Klein has instructed City Atty. Richard J. Steffens to collect complaints for use against Police Chief Peter P. Clark, whom the city administration seeks to retire.

Complaints will be presented within 10 days to the police and fire commission in written form. The commission last week declined to suspend Clark on the grounds no written complaints had been filed.

Clark has forestalled his enforced retirement, which was to have been effective today, by securing a temporary injunction against the police pension board. The board Jan. 19 voted 5-1 to retire Clark. Clark, a member, cast the only dissenting vote.

Any complaints given the police and fire commission will be considered and public hearing set. Steffens will represent the city.

Approved Action

Last week, the common council voted unanimously to approve the pension board's action forcing Clark's retirement.

The pension board must appear in Circuit Court at Oshkosh at 10 a.m. March 22 to answer Clark's complaint that the retirement will deprive him of his rights.

Last week, Clark declined to comment on matters discussed by pension board members before the council, but termed the oral complaints "untrue, but that will be ironed out in court." He said he was advised by his attorneys not to answer.

Clark has been on the Menasha Police Department since April, 1934, and chief since June, 1949. He is eligible for pension.

School Employes Get Pay Increase

Appleton Give Non-Teachers 4 Per Cent Raise, Fringe Benefits

A 4 per cent salary increase for non-teaching employes of Appleton public schools was approved by the Board of Education Monday. More liberal vacation policy and greater overtime pay for Sundays and holidays also will be included in the salary schedule beginning July 1.

The School Maintenance Association had asked for a 5 per cent raise, but indicated it would accept 4 per cent. The 4 per cent hike is in line with what Fox Cities industries have given this year, said William R. Knuth, director of business affairs.

School employes will receive three-week vacations after 12 consecutive years of service, rather than the former 15 year period. A survey in October showed that 16 of 33 Fox Cities concerns had more liberal vacation plans for clerical workers than the schools' new one, and 14 of 25 had better vacation plans for custodial and maintenance employes

Call-Back Rates

Call-back rate for Sundays and holidays will be $3 an hour, and for other days, $2 an hour.

The board took no action on a request that the schools pay half the premium for employes' hospital and surgical insurance. It was recommended that teachers and others receive the same insurance benefits. Appleton Education Association is studying proposed insurance policies.

Workers now classified as janitor-firemen will be included among engineers next school year. This means a $33 annual salary increase for six men.

The purchasing agent was put on a salary schedule 20 per cent higher than the highest clerical salary, and the superintendent of buildings and grounds on a schedule 20 per cent higher than the head mechanic.

Action on the business affairs director's salary was postponed.

The board's actions Monday on

CD Will be Rural-City Day Theme

NEENAH — Civil Defense will be the theme stressed Thursday during the annual Farm-City Day sponsored by the Retail-Service Council of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce.

Talks on atomic fallout in relation to farming will be given by Donald Jensen, state coordinator for Civil Defense in agriculture.

Dr. C. W. Burch, agricultural extension veterinarian, and Myron Dean, agricultural extension dairyman, also will speak. Donald C. Shepard Jr., second vice president of the Twin-City Chamber, will give a talk on Chamber of Commerce membership.

The program will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. at the Menasha Elks Club. Approximately 100 area farmers will be guests of Twin City merchants.

Just What Does Mayor Mitchell Do? Pupil Asks

Just what is the job of being mayor of Appleton?

That's what Terri Abrahams, 119 S. Rankin St., and a fourth grade pupil at Edison School, wants to know.

Terri wrote a letter to Mayor Clarence Mitchell, saying that in her social studies class she was learning about city, county and state government.

"Please tell me something about your job?" she asked.

The last line of the letter said, "Please send your answer in my level of reading."

Boating Club To Start Drive For Members

Reports Set for Tri-City Club on Milwaukee Meeting

NEENAH — The Tri-City Boating Club will kick off a membership drive at the Whiting Boat House at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Each club member has been encouraged to bring a friend to the potluck dinner session.

Robert Pagel, Wisconsin boating representative from the local club, will report on plans for a March 25 meeting in Milwaukee. Plans for the annual Wisconsin Boating Association rendevous on Lake Winnebago will be discussed. The rendezvous will be July 22 and 23.

A delegation from the Tri-City Club will attend the Milwaukee meeting and attend the Wisconsin Boat Show. Miss Judith Ann Rabideau, the tri-city entry, will reign as queen of the event.

Water Level Ruling

The regulation of the Lake Winnebago water level also will be discussed at the Milwaukee meeting.

Also on the Wednesday agenda is the question of whether to allocate additional funds for a contribution to the High Cliff State Park marina.

A social hour will follow the meeting and refreshments will be served. Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. William Daniel are in charge of arrangements. Anyone interested in joining the Tri-City Club is invited to attend.

Committee to Meet Nurse Applicants

OSHKOSH — The county health committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the courthouse to review applications for assistant county nurse. Meeting with the committee will be Miss Gladys Salter, district advisory nurse of the state board of health.

Terraces Around City Hall May Be Blacktopped

Appleton's street and sanitation committee will recommend blacktopping the terraces around city hall on Oneida and Franklin Streets.

The suggestion has been made a number of times during the last few years. Yesterday Ald. Austin Tucker asked the committee to take action.

There is no terrace on the west side of city hall, along Appleton Street.

The committee approved a request for wider canopies on Grace's Apparel Shop, 100 E. College Ave., but limited the canopy on the Oneida Street side of the store to six feet.

Committeemen said that if and when Oneida is widened an eight-foot canopy would protrude over the street. An eight-foot canopy will be allowed on College Avenue. Joseph S. Berger, owner, had asked for eight feet on both sides.

Still No Place For AVS Driver Training Practice

Appleton school Supt. Royce E. Kurtz and Vocational and Adult School Director Carl G. Bertram must meet again to decide where AVS can have driver training practice this summer, the Board of Education agreed Monday.

Foster School playground, used by the Vocational School last year, is too small for the expanded program, especially while construction of a school addition is in progress.

Madison School playground, suggested as an alternative, also is wanted by the Recreation Department.

A possible site for the drivers is Franklin School but its distance from the Vocational School is a disadvantage, it was pointed out.

Deed Restrictions In Industrial Park Will be Rewritten

Eight Appleton Industrialists Meet With Advisory Committee

Deed restrictions on property in Appleton's industrial park will be made more lenient, the city council's industrial development advisory committee decided last night.

The committee met with representatives of eight Appleton industries, interested in buying land in the park.

Firms represented at the meeting were Tuttle Press, Appleton Wire Works, Appleton Coated Paper Co., Appleton Manufacturing Co., J. Golper and Co., Peerless Paint Co., Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. and August Winter and Sons, Inc.

Most of the industrialists were concerned with provisions for air pollution, landscaping, the time period within which a building must be erected, city control over the type of building and use of land for parking.

No Fly-By-Nighters

Committee members said the restrictions were made stringent to protect the park and its occupants from fly-by-night companies' but agreed that the rules could be rewritten to the satisfaction of the local industrialists and still protect against undesirable firms.

Several local industries were dissatisfied with the air pollution regulation, saying it imposed a restriction on the park that the rest of the city was not subject to, and gave too much power to the director of public works. The city does not have an air pollution ordinance

As the restriction was written, the director of public works could make industries install equipment for control of air pollution, and make the company stop any offending operation until the equipment was in operation.

Committeemen deleted the restriction and will ask that an or-

Church Census Being Planned

All Parishes in Twin Cities Asked To Particiuate

NEENAH — A full-scale church census in Neenah-Menasha is planned by the Twin City Ministerial Association, the Rev. Charles W. Luhn, pastor of St. Mark Lutheran Church, Neenah, and association president, announced.

The religious census is tentatively scheduled for June 4, with all churches in the Twin Cities invited to participate. There are about 25 parishes covering all denominations in Neenah - Menasha.

A committee composed of the Rev. Luhn, the Rev. Donald Hansen, Our Savior Lutheran Church, and the Rev. K. Aart Van Dam, Whiting Memorial Baptist Church, is in charge of the census project.

Because the two communities have shown exceptional growth in the last decade and there is further mushrooming in new areas the Twin City Ministerial Association felt there was need for a thorough survey of the area.

K-C Building Addition To Field Service Shop

NEENAH — A 50- by 80-foot addition to the field service shop at the Kimberly - Clark Corp. Kimlark plant will be completed in about two weeks, company officials said today.

The one-story addition is being built out of prefabricated metal and will cost an estimated $20,000. It is located on Henry Street.

Girl Refuses to Testify, Gets 2-Day Jail Sentence

OSHKOSH — A 14-year - old girl was sentenced to two days in the Winnebago county jail for contempt of court after she continually refused to testify at a preliminary hearing Monday before Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane.

She was the complainant in a statutory rape charge against David Zimmerman, 23, 515 Mt. Vernon St., Oshkosh. The charge against him was dismissed at the request of Dist Atty. Jack Steinhilber.

When the girl refused at first to testify Monday afternoon, Judge Cane warned her he could cite her for contempt of court and a recess was called. She continued in her refusal after the recess after again being advised of the possible contempt sentence.

Replying "I won't" when asked again to answer questions put to her by the district attorney, Judge Cane imposed the 2-day jail term.

Lawrence College Director Returns From Conference

John McN. Rosebush, Director of Alumni Relations and Development at Lawrence College, returned Monday from a three - day conference on "Alumni Education for Public Responsibility" at Arden House on Columbia University's Harriman, N.Y. campus.

Rosebush

The conference, co-sponsored by Columbia and Southwestern University in Memphis, Tenn., was designed to explore ways in which colleges and universities may help to develop responsible leadership in local communities through informed and active participation of their alumni.

A major part of the conference program was the description and discussion of an experiment in the field of alumni education and public responsibility sponsored by Memphis University in 1960. It was designed to meet the challenge now facing Americans of out-thinking, out-planning, and outperforming totalitarianism.

Small but Interested Group Hears What Civil Defense Is

People Responsible for Public Activities Explain Their Jobs

BY TOM TORINUS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An interested gathering that sat and listened to a panel of Appleton's Civil Defense officials last night knows exactly what will happen to families and city if a surprise enemy nuclear attack happens. The listeners know precisely how they can help themselves and their town if nuclear fallout ever blankets the area.

Education of the people of Appleton was the purpose of the civil defense panel. The five members represented every area of responsibility in an emergency situation and everything that would be done was discussed by the person who would be in charge of doing it.

But the panel was somewhat inhibited in fulfilling its purpose of education, because the gathering that attended the widely-publicized event was small. Two hundred people, at most, filled only a fraction of the Morgan School auditorium.

"Civil Defense is just government in an emergency," Frank Jenkins, chairman of the state disaster committee and in charge of CD industrial planning, said definitely. And he and other panel members explained how the emergency government here would be operated.

Lee J. Penney, Appleton-Outagamie County CD director, explained that Appleton very likely may not be a blast area in the event of a nuclear attack. In Wisconsin, only Green Bay, Madison, Superior and Milwaukee have been designated by the Department of Defense as blast areas, he explained.

But he emphasized that Appleton would be covered with fallout if Madison, and possibly Milwaukee, were attacked, because prevailing winds would carry radioactive particles at least this far out. If Green Bay is hit, he said, Appleton and Kaukauna will be a reception area for 31,000 Green Bay residents.

"The people of Appleton will not evacuate because we will not be a blast area and because in a saturation attack the whole county will be covered with fallout in 24 hours," he declared.

To a question by panel moderator Rolland Nock, principal of Morgan School, Sheriff Robert Heinritz explained the warning system that would alert the nation and this area if an attack came. The warning would come initially from radar stations surrounding the U. S. to a central warning station and would then be disseminated to 400 community warning points, of which Appleton is one.

After that, Heinritz said, "I suppose police cars and fire trucks would run out and do what they could do." He admitted that right now the warning procedure in Appleton would be rather disorganized and slow.

The reason, he and Penney were quick to point out, is that there is no siren system in the city, by which every resident could be instantaneously put on guard.

Penney expressed regret that a siren system does not exist, but added that the joint committee had approved a cost survey of such a system and that he was confident

Cut Voted in Funds For Radio Council

MADISON (AP)—The Republican-controlled Joint Finance Committee today recommended a $79,500 cut in the budget of the State Radio Council.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson has endorsed a 1961-63 biennium budget for the council totaling $571,031. The figure would have earmarked $28,500 to cover the cost of the nine-station radio net work resuming Saturday broadcasting, $13,500 for construction of a remote control station in Marinette County, $14,000 for a new transmitter at WLBL, Auburndale, and $30,000 to increase the antenna height at WHAD, Delafield.

Only the $14,000 appropriation for the WLBL transmitter remained after the committee's budget slashes.

Council Learns Why Policies Asked

Menasha Park Rules Debated, But No Commitment Given

MENASHA — The Common Council Monday learned why the Park and Recreation Board proposed its park use ordinance, but did not commit itself to any action on the new rules.

The set of rules last week was rejected at the formal council meeting, until further study could be made.

After several interruptions, Linus Pfankuch, chairman of the park group, read a statement noting that the Park and Recreation Board seeks to run an orderly, economically, well supervised park system.

"For years the Park and Recreation Departments in our city have survived in a haphazard manner without the formal policy that is necessary in pursuit of good functional usage of facilities," the statement read. In the request to have the ordinance approved, he added, it is not the intent "to exclude anyone from use or availability of the parks; rather, we wish to accelerate parks' usage to the citizens of Menasha by making them more attractive from a standpoint of good, moral family recreation." His statement concluded by saying the board feel its objectives had been misinterpreted and its intentions misrepresented.

Carnival Use

Major point of contention Monday was on the use of the parks by carnivals, sponsored by various fraternal and church groups.

Pfankuch called for a return to the old custom of having carnivals go to a "circus grounds" area, instead of a planted and maintained park area. He suggested north of Clovis-Grove School, a future park area not scheduled for development for some time, or other place.

Recreation Director Robert Vanevenhoven presented six points against the present use of parks. Carnivals, he said, cause tree and turf damage, and often stay up to nine days between bookings. "They avail themselves of free water and electricity. Toilet facilities are inadequate for crowds involved. House trailers park over large areas of the park. In most cases, personnel of carnival units introduced are an "undesirable element" because of misbehavior, Vanevenhoven contended.

Damage claims are difficult to recover in full, he noted.

Program Interrupted

Interference with the recreation program comes from the carnivals' setting up over the recreation area — playground and horseshoe pits — and rendering playground equipment unusable, he added. "Beer sales and boisterous behavior of the crowd makes for undesirable environment. Pool operation (is) impaired by throwing of beer cans and bottles into pool area. The pool parking lot many times (is) crowded with trucks and trailers," stated Vanevenhoven.

Since other parks in the area have closing hours, late parties move into Jefferson Park with much vandalism and many teenage problems arising, he said.

Ald. Edward Stinski contended the carnivals do not cost the city anything in park damage.

Police Power

Park Supt. Harry Kargus said lawn repair work has run from $56 to $72, depending how muddy the area became.

Pfankuch told Stinski that the police must arrest those who drive over the grass, but carnivals have permission to do so, and tie up the playground area, depriving taxpayers' children of the use of it.

Stinski retorted: "What if we took the position there shouldn't be any benches in the parks because the cost is too large? People want tables."

Ald. Louis Gammey said, "The people seem to enjoy the carnivals."

Ald. Fred Block maintained the only times softball games seem to attract many people are the days carnivals are operating in the park.

Vanevenhoven told the council he would not like to see the city park become commercialized, and pointed to the Wisconsin Dells area as an extreme. He also told of some parties in the park and of photographs he had of some incidents.

Municipal Beach

Stinski asked if the Park and Recreation Board ever would open the municipal bathing beach for citizens' use.

Board members told him it was open to anyone, except for swimming. Last year it was used for Boy Scout camping, they informed the aldermen. Picnics can be held there with permission.

Stinski said he wanted Coel Brothers to be allowed to keep their carp fishing boats in Jefferson Park, because of their work in ridding Lake Winnebago of rough fish.

Steffens said the rules could be acted on again before April 18 if a majority of the council approves reconsideration. Otherwise, it can become new business for the next council session.

Firms interested in corner lots objected to landscaping requirements, saying they didn't think it fair to have to landscape more than the front of their properties. The parcel of land one firm is interested in will have streets on three sides. The rule was changed so that only the front needs to be landscaped.

Originally parking was prohibited in side and rear yards, between the building set-back line and the street. Parking in these areas will be allowed now. All the firms agreed to no parking on streets, and will provide off-street parking for employes and visitors.

The period of time within which a building must be erected was made indefinite for the eight firms represented last night, because they assured the city they intended to use any land they bought. The restriction was written to prevent firms from buying the land for speculation or tax purposes.

The subcommittee which wrote the restrictions said the city should see that the park is developed as soon as possible. Allowing land to be bought for investment or tax purposes would mean some of the park would not be developed for many years, it said.

The stipulation that the city could require a full description of the building to be erected also was writetn for protection against fly-by-night operations, the local industrialists were told. Committee members said they did not think the local firms would have to do this.

After the revised deed restrictions are printed and mailed to the eight firms their representatives will be asked for another meeting to begin negotiations for purchase of the land.

The American - Marietta Co., Chicago, sent a letter to the city saying it is interested in a five- or six-acre plot on Perkins Street along the Soo Line tracks, because it needs a spur line.

Committeemen will write the company saying it would be better if the firm chose a different parcel of land, because it will be impossible to install a spur line at that location. The railroad tracks lie in a deep cut, about 12 feet below ground level. The parcel the firm would like unevenly divides a 12-acre tract.

Representatives of the Soo Line and Chicago North Western Railroads will be asked to meet with the committee to outline what they think will be the best arrangement for spur tracks to serve the entire park. No meeting date was set.

The board decided not to change its policy of retiring non-teaching employes at 65. However, the superintendent may recommend exceptions for particularly healthy and well-qualified workers who may work beyond that age, the board said.

7 Face Charges For Attack in Reformatory

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Seven inmates of the state reformatory will be arraigned on assault charges Wednesday in connection with the beating of a guard a week ago "to get revenge."

Assault charges were filed Monday against Donald Bethards, 18, Racine; Robert Wyman, 20, Robert R. Harris, 19, Jerry W. Smith, 18, and Clayton Cook, 18, all of Milwaukee; James U. Masterson, 21, Lake Geneva, and Richard O. Byers, 20, West Allis.

Dist. Atty. Robert Warren said Cook admitted taking the part of the ring leader and said guard Merrill Allard, 38, was struck from behind to avenge an earlier scuffle between Allard and a cousin of Cook, also a reformatory inmate. Allard was not seriously hurt and continued on duty after the attack.

Warren said the charge against Harris was conspiracy to assault.

2 Women Burned To Death by Mob

ORAN, Algeria (AP)— An Algerian mob went on a rampage in Oran's Arab quarter today and burned two European women to death in their own motor car.

The mob seized the car, turned it over and set it afire. At the same time the crowd prevented the two women and their driver from escaping from the blaze. The driver was badly burned.

A police patrol, attracted by screams, dispersed the mob.

Another mob attacked four other motor cars and set fire to them. A Moslem policeman was killed, and a European riding a motor scooter was badly injured in a hal of stones. A European child was injured in another mob.

In Oran the European and Moslem populations are roughly equal. For the past several months tension has been running high between the two groups.

Assistant Fire Chief Roland Kuehni emphasized the extreme technicality of his job of detecting and measuring fallout and the need for much private help in this area. He had on display instruments for measuring radioactivity and radiological monitoring equipment. Penney said that 450 people were needed to operate them. He hoped to have the 450 in three years.

Jenkins told of his little-known role, working with area industries to plan emergency actions. "Big Industry is aware of the problem of planning," he said.

Organized planning in industry has concentrated on two types of procedures: those for handling workers in an emergency and those for continuing production after fallout has set in.

He has been working with companies to insure that there will be continuity of management, provision for immediate repair work, protection against sabotage and espionage and mutual aid with other companies so that production can continue.

James Murphy, principal of Franklin School, felt his Civil Defense job was vital. He is responsible for school children in an attack. Murphy said that if children were sent home in an alert situation, it would be done according to a set evacaution plan. But he wanted to know from Penney and the others what would be done with the children if they were forced to remain in the schools for a period of up to two weeks.

Penney answered that children would be confined to the schools for three or four days at most. But, Penney said, he wished that someone could provide stores of canned multi-purpose food and portable radios for the schools.

In his closing note, Jenkins commented, "You can't buy Civil Defense, it has to be done voluntarily by all the people in the community." The CD director backed him up, urging family planning and asking for volunteer CD policemen and radiological monitoring instructors and workers.

State Meat Inspection Plan Proposed

Voluntary Plan Would Supplement Federal Service

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A state meat inspection and certification service has been proposed to the legislature by the Wisconsin Frozen Food Locker Association.

The suggested state inspection service would cover meat and meat by-product producers and processors at their option, and would supplement the U.S. government meat inspection service, which now covers meat moving in interstate trade channels.

It also would supplement the meat inspection services now provided by some Wisconsin municipalities, most of them larger cities.

The voluntary program would provide for inspection services by the state department of agriculture, with the application of labels or markings showing the fact of state inspection. The labels will also include a code letter or number identifying the producer or processor involved.

Advisory Unit

The Department of Agriculture also would issue rules governing the production, slaughtering, processing and handling of the inspected meat and meat by-products under the voluntary coverage provided.

An advisory committee of eight members chosen by the governor, serving for terms of two years without pay, would assist the administrative agency in the promulgation of the rules.

The inspection legend would bear the words "Wisconsin inspected and passed", similar to the legends borne by U.S. government inspected meat and meat products. Meat passing the inspection of local ordinance requirements would be eligible for the legend, if the state agency rated the local inspection services as adequate. There are now 31 Wisconsin meat plants under various local inspection programs.

Lawrence Says

New Regime Could be Good or Bad

Only Time Will Tell As Kennedy Team Settles Into Power

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Was the change in administration here a fortunate or unfortunate event in world affairs? It could turn out either way. Time alone can tell — maybe it will be another year before the full effect can be appraised.

Lawrence

Arguments can be made on both sides. In support, however, of the theory that it was wise to change administrations, there's an ancient tale which gains modern significance because it was told by Winston Churchill at breakfast with some cabinet officers in the Eisenhower administration on the occasion of one of his visits to Washington.

It is the story of a native of a Middle Eastern country who was sentenced to die. After several days in prison he confided to some of his fellow prisoners, also condemned to death, that he had a new plan to save himself.

"If the shah," he said, will give me a reprieve of only one year, I'll promise to teach his favorite bull to fly."

"But," said the other prisoners, "you will be taking a fatal chance. The rest of us will die a merciful death—one swish of the sword—but if you fail, you will die in torture."

Bullish Ideas

"Oh, no," exclaimed the optimistic prisoner, as he added: "Many things can happen in a year. In the first place, the shah might die. In the second place, the bull might die. And in the third place, I just might be able to teach that bull to fly."

So it is possible that many things can happen in the period just ahead as the Kennedy administration feels its way in world affairs. Even the Soviet dictator seems to be willing to wait before deciding what attitude to take toward the Kennedy administration. He has just sent a blistering letter to virtually all the heads of government throughout the world about the Congo and the U.N.'s alleged failures, but he carefully omitted the president of the United States from the list.

Certainly it will take several months for the Kennedy administration to become fully informed on all the background of Soviet-American relations and on the many phases of policy that tend to make the Western alliance look a bit shaky today. What better excuse for delay and caution, therefore, could there be as the new administration utilizes the opportunity to examine all aspects of world policy? The lapse of time could, in this instance, be constructively helpful. Theer may be no assurance in such maneuvers that a nuclear war has been prevented, but at least it may be indefinitely postponed.

Critics on the other side of the argument assume just the opposite position—that time is of the essence. The deterioration in Cuba, in Laos, in the Conga and in the Middle East, as well as the serious trouble France has in Algeria, all add up to a crisis of massive proportions. The American people, it is contended, broke the third-term precedent in 1940 and even elected a president for a fourth term in 1944 because they didn't want to make a change in the middle of a war.

This time, it is argued that the "cold war" presented an even riskier situation and that a change in administration has brought to Washington a new set of policy-makers at the top who can't possibly learn for another year at least the ins and outs of the problems they are forced to deal with every day. Can administrations be switched and experienced personnel swept out suddenly and no damage be done?

The Kennedy administration hasn't really made up its mind on foreign policy. Some principles established in the past will be maintained, but Nikita Khrushchev still hopes that the new group in Washington will make deals with him and will not seriously challenge his schemes for world domination. In fact, he is counting on the admission of Red China to the U. N. to give the Soviet-Chinese alliance added strength throughout the world.

Silence Settles

As for developments in Washington thus far, the "new era" may turn out, after all, to be a return to an old era. Already old-time secrecy is the rule. The RB-47 fliers were released a month ago, but the press isn't able as yet to find out where the plane really was when shot down or why the United States hasn't uttered a protest since it knows the facts. Secrecy in negotiations is helpful at times, but Congressional committees in the past have been emphasizing "the right to know." Now they are strangely silent on Capitol Hill. Did America pay a ransom for the release of those fliers? Would there be the same silence if all this had happened under the Eisenhower administration?

As for the roving missions, former Gov. Williams of Michigan has stirred up a controversy by impromptu remarks on his visit to Africa. Another roving ambassador, Averell Harriman—a man of longer experience—is about to confer with the heads of government in Europe. Maybe this is wise, as the ambassadors of the last administration are gone and the new ones aren't in their posts or trained as yet.

In the White House there are at the president's side several persons who deal with foreign policy—a setup Secretary Dulles successfully avoided. At the state department, Sec. Rusk must be having a hard time keeping up with all that's going on around him. It's all well enough to say Kennedy is running foreign policy, but the president can't administer the details of any one department and do justice to all departments. There isn't time enough.

Foster Plans Move Ahead

School Board OKs Minor Changes, Schedules Meetings

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved two minor changes in plans for the Foster School addition and set two special meetings in preparation for final approval of plans.

At its Feb. 13 meeting, the board had reversed location of two small rooms near the present building, one for audio-visual aids equipment storage and the other for speech correction, individual testing and other services.

Last night, the board returned to original plans so the resource room will have the natural light and ventiliation that is not needed for storage. The storage room still will be available to the recreation room during the summer.

The board will discuss completed plans March 9, and will discuss them with the City Council School Advisory Committee March 14. The board wants council approval of the plans March 15 so it can advertise for bids.

Also on March 15, four Appleton architects will present to the board their qualifications for designing the proposed $1 million southeast elementary school.

1941 Graduates Of St. John Plan Reunion

LITTLE CHUTE—Plans are underway for a reunion of members of the 1941 graduating class of St. John High School, tentatively set for June 10 in the Catholic grade school auditorium.

Serving as co-chairmen will be Tony Van Boxtel and Mrs. Roger Koehn. Others on the planning committee are Mrs. James Rickert, Mrs. Norbert Van Lanen, Joseph Vanden Hogen, Mrs. Richard Reider, Mrs. George Esler, Robert Look and Ray Bongers.

The group will meet early in April to work out details on a cocktail hour, dinner and program.

Vogt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vogt, are seated. The $200 scholarship is given annually to a student at the Fox Valley Center who is going on to the campus in his junior year. Vogt, a commerce major, is a library assistant and music representative and has taken part in student government and forensics.

Schools Extend Social Service

Appleton System Hires Worker for 7 Weeks of Summer

Extension of the contract of social worker John Nave for seven weeks during the summer was approved by the Appleton Board of Education Monday.

He will be paid at his usual weekly rate, which is more than the $100 a week proposed by Supt. Royce E. Kurtz. The social service department has increased services and cases need continual work, Kurtz said in recommending the contract extension.

The board approved raises of $400 a year for Miss Jerrie Phimister, who is responsible for financial support of her mother, and $100 for Mrs. Verona Rhode, who has earned 15 credits beyond her bachelor's degree.

The board agreed that principals as well as teachers should get $100 additional base pay for having 15 credits beyond their bachelor's degrees. This applies to McKinley Principal Charles Lynch, who has earned 24 credits toward his master's degree. Most principals have masters' degrees.

Proposed changes in the wording of teachers' contracts were tabled until the March 15 board meeting. The changes do not alter policy, but are designed to make the contracts more clear.

Twin City's Newspaper Wins Press Award

CHICAGO (AP)—Five Wisconsin newspapers were honored for typographical excellence today as winners were announced for the Inland Daily Press Association's 22nd annual contest which attracted 235 entrants.

The Watertown Times took first place in Class A, for newspapers printed on flatbed presses. The Neenah-Menasha Twin City News-Record was second in the same class and the Portage Register third.

The Oshkosh Northwestern was given an honorable mention in Class C, for papers of circulation of 10,000 to 20,000.

The Green Bay Press-Gazette received an honorable mention in Class D, newspapers with circulation of 25,000 to 75,000.

The Duluth (Minn) News-Tribune received an honorable mention in Class D, and the Ironwood (Mich) Globe in Class B.

Neenah Town Caucus Set For March 7

NEENAH—Caucus for the Town of Neenah to nominate officers will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 7, Town Clerk Richard Roudebush announced today. The caucus will be at Lakeview School.

Candidates will be nominated for town chairman, two town board supervisors, town clerk, treasurer, assessor, constable and two justices of the peace.

At its meeting Monday night the town board discussed placing street lights in front of the Tullar and Lakeview Schools but deferred action to its March 13 meeting.

The board also approved the Pleasant View plat on Highway 114.

Appleton High to Get Two New Math Courses

Probability and Statistics, Advanced Algebra to Form Fifth Year of Program

Two new semester courses in mathematics for Appleton High School were approved by the Board of Education Monday.

Probability and statistics first semester and advanced algebra with emphasis on the "function concept" second semester will give AHS a five-year program in mathematics, beginning with algebra which some students now take as eighth graders.

"There are very few high schools in the United States offering a five-year program in mathematics," wrote Hubert F. Wetak, AHS math department head. "Therefore, it is difficult to pattern such a program after any other school."

Students will be able to take the following sequence of mathematics courses:

Eighth grade, algebra.

Tenth grade, intermediate algebra and solid geometry.

Not Recommended

"Normally the course taken at the conclusion of analytic geometry would be calculus," Wetak explained. "However, most college mathematics departments recommend that calculus should not be taught at the high school level."

Students mathematically mature enough for calculus can take it at Lawrence College, as one this year is doing, the AHS math teacher said.

Rigorous Course

Usually about half the students in third year math continue with the fourth year course. Those that drop are primarily students who do not plan to follow engineering and science courses in college. They might take probability and statistics instead of trigonometry and analytic geometry, Wetak said.

"The probability and statistics course would be rigorous in nature. The course of study recommended for this course is one that has been suggested by the College Entrance Examination Board. However, if the makeup of the class was such that higher goals could be attained, the adjustment would be made just as we do in our present third and fourth year math classes," Wetak concluded.

Board OKs Paper Bids

Appleton Schools to Purchase $6,139 Worth of Supplies

Bids of $6,139 for paper were accepted by the Appleton Board of Education Monday.

The board accepted the low bid of $2,158 by Belson Co., Green Bay, for 400 cases of paper towels.

The schools will buy 3,000 reams of duplicator paper for $2,049 and 800 reams of mimeo paper for $562 from Valley School Supply, Appleton. Low bids for these orders were $1,856 and $495, but school administrators said the less expensive paper was of poorer quality.

The board accepted low bids of Oshkosh Paper Co. for 100 reams of 18- by 24-inch newsprint, $152; 50 reams of 18 by 24 manila drawing paper, $144; 100 reams of 12- by 18-inch white drawing, $206; and 50 reams of 18- by 24-inch white drawing, $200.

The schools will buy 300 reams of 12- by 18-inch newsprint for $232 and 300 reams of 12- by 18-inch manila drawing from Woelz Brothers, Appleton, low bidder.

Delay Action In Beating Case

NEENAH — No court action will be taken in the case of a Menasha man who was beaten Sunday until the man is released from the hospital, police said today.

John Pawelkiewicz Jr., 47, 508 Fourth St., Menasha, was beaten about the face early Sunday morning in the parking lot at Lakeroad Lanes Bowling Alley on S. Commercial Street.

Three men apparently took part in the fracas. Pawelkiewicz earlier told police four men attacked him for no apparent reason.

A 17-year old youth was being held by Neenah police but has been released in his parents' custody. Two other men were taken into custody for questioning but are not being held.

Science Teacher to Visit Menasha High

MENASHA — A National Science Foundation traveling science teacher will present special lectures and demonstrations during a visit to Menasha High School April 11 to 14.

He is Arthur G. Suhr, one of 12 teachers selected from a seven-state area and given special training at Michigan State University's science and mathematics teaching center, East Lansing.

Suhr's objective is to interest students in science careers. Besides presenting lectures to student groups, he will be available as a consultant to faculty members.

Appleton May Rejoin Project In Education

School Board Sets Discussion of UW Teacher Internship

Appleton public schools may again cooperate with the Wisconsin Improvement Program, University of Wisconsin educational research project which dropped Appleton in September.

The Board of Education will consider at its March 15 meeting a program of teaching internship the Improvement Program is developing.

On Feb. 3, program director John Guy Fowlkes wrote to J. P. Mann, superintendent of schools, explaining the three types of internship programs proposed and inviting Appleton to join with other school systems in "exploring possibilities in this connection."

Royce E. Kurtz, who became superintendent the first week of January, told Improvement Program officials that he was interested in exploring possibilities of the program but could not commit Appleton schools without board approval.

Personality Clashes

At Monday's meeting, the board recalled personality clashes between the board and Fowlkes which led to Appleton's being dropped from the project. Perhaps bygones should be left as bygones and Appleton, with its new superintendent, should try again, some members said.

The program's proposal includes post-graduate teaching internship for elementary and secondary teachers, a combined bachelor's master's degree internship for elementary and secondary schools and internship for undergraduate students in the school of education. In each program, cooperating school systems would pay intern's salary and provide supervision.

Firm Invites Parking Help

Central Paper Co. Tells of Problems On Menasha Street

MENASHA — City aldermen were invited Monday to help Central Paper Co. work out a means of parking large trucks so Fourth Street is not blocked.

Company officials Stuart E. Thompson, secretary, and Robert Williams, production manager, explained the problem and showed how the plant's layout dictated using two doors midway in the north wall of the building for outbound freight.

City street workers have cut back the terrace on the north side of the street and filled it with crushed rock to allow autos to gain nearly an extra lane when large trucks are backed into the loading dock.

One possibility is an angled loading dock, built out into the street, as at several other plants in Menasha. The longest trucks still would jut into Manitowoc Street, officials predicted.

The company is renting outside space and its plant is very crowded now, Thompson said. The firm has considered relocating in the Town of Menasha but made no decision, he said.

Adventists Plan Sabbath School Workshop Here

William J. Harris, associate secretary of the Sabbath School Department of the world headquarters of Seventh-Day Adventists at Washington, is to conduct a Sabbath School workshop at the Seventh-day Adventist Church, 350 West Capital Drive, tonight. Delegates from Adventist churches within fifty miles will be present.

An ordained minister, Mr. Harris became a missionary in 1920, serving for 21 years as president in four different missions in China. Coming home he served in several state Sabbath School departments, and five years as president of the Hawaiian Mission. In 1950 he was elected to the General Conference Sabbath School Department and travels the world in the interest of youth education.

He was born and educated in Michigan.

Appleton Jobless Less Than 3 Per Cent

State Nears 5 Per Cent Mark, Employment Service Report Says

Unemployment in the immediate Appleton area is slightly less than 3 per cent of the labor force, Fred R. Gehrke told the Lions Club Monday.

Gehrke

Gehrke, district manager of the Wisconsin State Employment Office here, estimated unemployment in the Outagamie - Waupaca County area served by his office at 3½ per cent.

He said his latest figures from the state show 4.9 per cent unemployment for all of Wisconsin. The national average is about 6 per cent.

This area is better off than the rest of the state and nation, Gehrke said, because of its stable economy and reliable industries and businesses.

Some of the workers that were laid off because of seasonal adjustment of production schedules are being slowly recalled. The rate of recall is expected to increase in March, he noted.

In his talk, Gehrke emphasized that the employment office is strictly a service organization, not a police department to enforce state and federal labor laws.

"Our primary purpose is trying to match the needs of employers with those of persons looking for work," he commented.

The aim of every industry is to keep the rate of turnover as low as possible, by hiring the right people for specific jobs.

The employment office tries to match workers with jobs available so the employer will get the kind of person he needs and wants.

The office works with all types of job seekers, from common labor to the highest trained professional people. To do this, special services are provided for such things as teacher placement. The local office has been instrumental in placing 1,600 teachers, Gehrke said.

National Service

Brochures are made up for professional people, available to any employer who might be interested.

The local office and 25 other offices in the state all receive and distribute information on a national scale. They receive weekly summaries from the U. S. Labor Department on jobs available and people looking for specific types of work.

Gehrke explained that employment offices are supported by grants from the federal government.

Three mills of every dollar employers pay for unemployment compensation goes to support the employment service. Because of this there is no charge to employers or workers when a job placement is made.

Man Suffers Leg Injury as Target Gun Fires

MENASHA — Wayne Wolfe, 26, 10½ Tayco St., received a minor gunshot wound in his leg Monday afternoon when a target pistol discharged.

Wolfe, treated as an outpatient at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, was with two companions in a quarry on County Trunk BB in the Town of Menasha.

The accident shooting was reported by the Winnebago County sheriff's department. His companions were Myrle Boelter, 33, 325 Broad St., and Curtis Schoen, 18, 10½ Tayco St.

County police were told the weapon accidentally discharged when it fell from the tailgate of a station wagon.

2 Texas Boys Saved From Quicksand After Long Fight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)— Larry Chavez, 10, tried to jump a pit and fell in. His cousin, Johnny Sorole, 12, jumped in to save him.

Thus began a struggle against death when the sand and muck in the bottom of the pit began sucking them under.

Crewmen of a passing tugboat, the Cindy, saw the boys' struggles yesterday and radioed the Mercy Corps.

By the time rescuers arrived Johnny had sunk to his shoulders. Larry, who had thrown himself flat on the sand, was not so deep.

As around 300 spectators gathered in a light drizzle, R. S. Bill ran a one-inch rope from a truck at the top of a bank and anchored it at the bottom.

Mercy Corpsman R. E. Bradley was harnessed and lowered about halfway down this line on a pulley until he was over the boys' heads.

It took him 15 minutes to pull each lad out of the quicksand.

Whether March comes in like a lamb or lion, it brings with it a month-long drive for Red Cross funds in the Fox Cities area.

Outagamie County Red Cross Chapter, which has already collected $12,500, launches its door to door drive tomorrow for the rest of its $36,200 quota.

Neenah Red Cross Chapter will kick off its drive with a 7 a. m. meeting when Police Sgt. William T. Richey, 409 Congress St., Neenah, will speak. He is a World War II veteran who was held by the Japanese as a war prisoner for almost four years.

Menasha Goal

Menasha chapter has a goal of $10,144, Chairman Perry Kimmell said. The chapter office in the post office will have special hours during March, 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. Monday to Friday.

The Outagamie County chapter reported today that the advance gifts drive, led by John Rosebush and Don Jabas, is 90 per cent complete and solicitation of business is being completed. Ralph Buesing is general chairman.

Paul Dodge, Neenah drive chairman, will give workers' kits to more than 100 volunteers who are seeking $14,000. Mrs. V. I. Zeuthen is chairman for booths to be set up in Neenah's two banks. James R. Powers is chairman of industrial solicitations and Daniel T. Goggin, business and professional solicitations.

Weather Luck Of State Still Holding Out

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's luck still held firm today as the 13th storm spawned in the southwest this winter bypassed the state.

The storm center that was over eastern Texas early Monday, moved northeastward to western Tennessee and continued its northeasterly path today.

Instead of a storm, Wisconsin had sunshine and moderate temperatures. Temperatures during the night were 1 to 10 degrees above seasonal normals, ranging from 15 degrees at Wausau to 26 at Racine. Monday's highs ranged from 34 at Park Falls, Wausau and the Superior-Duluth region to 44 at Lone Rock.

There was no precipitation except for a light snow shower early Monday afternoon in the Superior-Duluth region.

The nation's warmest spot Monday was McAllen, Texas, where it was 88 degrees. This morning's low was 5 above zero at Leadville, Colo.

Patrol Reminds Drivers of Need For Directionals

FOND DU LAC — The Wisconsin State Patrol today issued a reminder that all motor vehicles sold new in Wisconsin after January 1, 1955, must be equipped with directional signal lights.

Captain L. V. Versnik, commander of the state patrol's Fox River Valley district, said there seems to be some local misunderstanding about the directional lights provision of the statutes.

The only exceptions to the requirement are motorcycles, farm tractors and machinery and vehicles in transit from factory to distributor or from dealer to purchaser.

Farm pickup trucks are not exempt from the law, Versnik said.

Writing Assignments are Increased at High School

AHS Reduces English Class Size, Gives Teachers Time to Read

BY BONNIE BARSTOW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A Lawrence College professor's criticism two years ago of Appleton High School graduates' performance in college English classes has helped the high school English department, AHS teachers say.

Craig R. Thompson, a professor of English at Lawrence in April, 1959, charged that AHS students weren't getting adequate instruction in the use of their language. He recommended that teachers spend more time reading student themes and students spend more time in serious reading and writing, including revision of themes until they were acceptable.

Since that time, the average size of AHS English classes has dropped to 27 — still two above the size recommended by the state but an improvement nonetheless. Classes of more than 30 students have been eliminated.

Assign More Writing

Because of smaller classes, teachers have more time to read themes and therefore are assigning more writing, said Miss Adela Klumb, chairman of the English department. Each English student writes at least one piece every two weeks.

When state supervisors visited the school in November, they noticed "active interest in the improvement of written expression" and commended the Board of Education for reducing class size.

Sophomores and juniors, who are required to take English, are divided into groups by ability.

The sophomore H, or honors, group remains together for English, mathematics and biology classes. Mrs. Evelyn Burroughs teaches English to these 28 students and works with her husband, Jack Burroughs, in helping the youngsters write biology papers. The honors classes were first taught two years ago.

Study Individually

"Much stress is placed on writing with emphasis on clarity, unity and coherence," the H group English course outline states. Weekly themes are required and students are encouraged to write other forms of literature.

There is no literature textbook for the honors course, but students use books of the school and their own libraries. All students don't necessarily study the same selections and all selections are read in their entirety. Long-range assignments include reading, speaking, listening, writing and dramatizing.

The 100 students in sophomore English X, the top of three groups chosen on the basis of language ability, write approximately a theme a week and keep an analysis of their writing through the year.

Familiar Topics

The 127 sophomores in English Z, the low group, are given reading and writing assignments on topics close to themselves, such as family, career, action and adventure, to stimulate their interest. Time allotted to work units varies from class to class. Students write letters and about one theme every two weeks about their experiences and books they've read.

About half of all sophomores are in English Y classes. A combination of teaching objectives and techniques of the X and Z classes is used here.

Sophomore classes study general literature. Juniors read works by American writers, with the goal of better understanding and appreciation of the nation's culture and literature.

History-English Unit

One junior group, 27 students of middle and high ability, have Miss Elizabeth Plowright for two classes a day, American history and English. The two courses are planned so study of the history of a period coincides with study of that period's literature.

Writing practice for juniors varies among X, Y and Z groups. The 76 top-level students do research papers, short stories, poetry and other advanced types of writing; the 134 Z members concentrate primarily on essays about themselves and their hobbies, notebooks, and letters. As in the sophomore class, the junior Y group (242 students) follows a course midway between X and Z.

English is optional for seniors. There are two courses, general English designed for those who will end their formal education at High School graduation.

Courses Differ

General English includes such units as vocations, biography, magazines, book reports, plays, letter writing and the novel. Literary Cavalcade and Reader's Digest magazines are used as well as a grammar text. The course enrollment is 171.

The college preparatory course includes English literature, writing of a long paper and other types of composition, language use, word study and other units. There are 274 seniors taking college preparatory English.

All AHS English courses include some of each of four broad areas of communication — reading, writing, speaking and listening.

School Buys Books

To aid the reading part of the curriculum, this year for the first time the school has purchased books for classroom libraries. The 728 volumes of literature for sophomores and 529 for juniors, chosen and organized for the various ability levels, are purchased through the school's central library and shelved in English classrooms. In previous years, students bought their own supplementary literature books and shared them with others in their classes.

The English department has the largest faculty of any department in the high school. Its 13 members include:

Miss Klumb, who received a bachelor of arts degree from Lawrence College and master of arts from Bread Loaf School of English, Middlebury College; Mrs. Burroughs, bachelor of science, Stevens Point State College; Miss Plowright, B.A. and M.A., Lawrence;

Miss Myrtle Brooks, bachelor of education, Oshkosh State College and master of philosophy, University of Wisconsin: Edwin M. Emmons, B.A., Lawrence, and M.A., UW; Mrs. Rita Macke, bachelor of secondary education, OSC; Herdis McCrary, B.A., UW, and B.S., OSC; Miss Sally Netzel, B.S., UW;

Mrs. Gene Nienow, B.S., Stevens Point; Mrs. Lois Reichardt, B.S., UW, and B.S.E., OSC; Miss Alice Sucharda, B.S., OSC; Miss Marjorie Williams, B.A., Carleton College;

Mrs. Ann Roelofs, B.A., Calvin College, substitute for Miss LaVerne Kniebusch, B.A. and M.A., UW, absent this year because of illness.

Human Rights Commission Tells Successes

State Unit Reports To Legislature, Says Job Not Completed

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state of Wisconsin has achieved "measurable success" in the human rights field during the last decade, the Governor's Commission on Human Rights told the legislature in an elaborate printed report today.

The job is not yet finished lawmakers now considering a package of new legislative proposals were told. The laws, originating with the agency, include several to extend the denial of rights prohibitions in the state laws to the field of rental and purchased housing.

The fact of some progress, said Chairman Dr. G. Aubrey Young, a Waukesha clergyman, "is a sobering one, bringing with it the responsibility of the commission's own part in an accelerated effort for the accelerated needs of the next decade."

Educational Work

The commission was created about 11 years ago, and its members, drawn from many groups and interests, serve without pay. It has a small professional staff at Madison. It has concentrated largely on educational and mediation work in the fields of interracial and religious understanding.

The report contained a detailed account of the policy decisions of the agency over the last decade.

Commission members include Victor I. Minahan, Appleton, vice chairman, the Rev. Perry Saito, Stevens Point, vice chairman, and Mrs. Willard E. Downing, Milwaukee, secretary.

Works of Literature for the shelves of Appleton High School English classrooms were bought this year for the first time through the school library. Using the books are, from left, Kay Menning, junior, and Helen Schwartz and Deanne Kurtz, sophomores. Magazines on the rack in the background also are used in English classes.

Inside Labor

State Labor Anxious To Get Teamsters Back

BY VICTOR RIESEL

MILWAUKEE — Not too long ago the Teamsters attempted to unionize a Puerto Rican newspaper. They used such persuasive techniques as smashing a car window with a big stick; beating, and bloodying and stomping on editorial employes; smashing cameras, seizing employes' briefcases, and other such imaginative tactics, according to observers, and according to sworn testimony before a government agency.

Riesel

The newspaper is "El Imparcial." The document is an NLRB report dated Jan. 24.

I reread this report today when I ran into another document on the Teamsters here. The latter was a letter dispatched by the leaders of the Wisconsin AFL-CIO state federation to labor's high command in Bal Harbour, Fla.

Readmit Teamsters

The letter and a resolution attached to it urged the AFL-CIO national council to hurry up and readmit Jim Hoffa's Teamsters union which had been expelled in '57 on charges of corruption. The literary quality of this resolution requires wide public notice—so here are parts of the paper which championed the Teamsters.

"The Wisconsin labor movement has sorely felt the absence of the Teamsters' honest, intelligent, unselfish and devoted leadership from its councils since it became necessary to bar Teamsters locals from affiliation. . .on orders of the National AFL-CIO."

Furthermore, the Wisconsin labor leaders told their national brethren in Florida that the Badger State regional Teamsters locals "are and always have been clean, idealistic, vigorous and cooperative labor unions."

Brother's Keeper

Here, then for all the world to see, is the crux of the moral problem gnawing deep inside labor—and angering the public by the multitudes. The Wisconsin Teamsters are honest! Fine. But inside labor men address each other as "brother." They are therefore, in full essence, their brother's keeper.

All but one of their leaders supports Hoffa, according to the record. All but one of them voted for Jimme R. for president of the Teamsters during their 1957 convention. That lone member, a delegate from Milwaukee Local 360, Laundry and Dry Cleaning Drivers, had the courage to cast his tally for William Lee of Chicago. Bill Lee was one of the few who had the guts to stand up against Hoffa's machine during that steam roller convention.

Therefore, it is not the honesty of the Wisconsin Teamsters which is at issue. It is what they do with their honesty.

Court Still Waits

But to get on with the resolution. At another point it states that the AFL-CIO should readmit the Teamsters because the truck-drivers' outfit plans to hold another convention.

"The International Brotherhood of Teamsters will be holding a national convention,' said the resolution, "to select its national officers in a completely democratic manner."

That may be. But that is not what the federal court has decided on the basis of the record. Fact is that Judge Letts has kept Jim Hoffa as merely provisional president.

For three and a half years this Justice of the Federal court in Washington has refused to recognize the validity or the so-called democracy of the last Teamsters convention.

Why So Eager?

Why then are the Wisconsin labor leaders so eager to get the Teamsters back into the AFL-CIO? Why do they ignore the type of violence reported in Puerto Rico by a government agency? Why do the labor men of Wisconsin not heed as militant a leader as their own colleague, the Seafarers President Paul Hall, who loathes Hoffa personally, politically and philosophically. Hall especially despises the Teamsters Alliance with the pro-Soviet Harry Bridges, leader of the West Coast longshoremen.

"This," said Hall, makes Hoffa "more despicable" than any other charges leveled against him from any other quarter."

A Wisconsin labor official has been quoted as saying that: "Many a labor dispute in Wisconsin and in every other area of the nation, would have gone down in defeat, if not for the all-out backing we received from the. . . Teamsters."

Is power, then, the standard of conduct? Shall it be the basis for partnership and for calling a man "brother"?

First Negro Quietly Enters Hospital in Florida for Treatment

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —A Negro woman quietly registered for a private room and became the first member of her race admitted for treatment at city-owned Mount Park Hospital.

Administrator Don Rece said Sunday Altamease Chapman, 56, is expected to remain at the 524-bed hospital for about 10 days. Suffering from varicose veins, she had been sent to Mount Park by a Negro physician.

The City Council voted Friday to allow the hospital to accept Negro patients after petitions were circulated to block construction of a wing for use by Negroes.

FCC Authorizes Trial For Pay-TV Service

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Federal Communications Commission has formally authorized a three-year trial of on-the-air subscription television service in the Hartford, Conn., area. The test is the first of its kind in the nation.

The trial will be sponsored by RKO General, Inc., major broadcaster which plans to spend up to $10 million on the test.

The company has said it does not expect to recover its investment during the three-year period, but hopes to prove within that time that pay TV is feasible and will have public acceptance.

Also participating in the Hartford test is Zenith Radio Corp. of Chicago, which developed the "phonevision" system to be employed, and Television Entertainment Co. (TECO), a Zenith subsidiary.

The authority issued today went to Hartford Phonevision Co., owned by RKO General, which has purchased Hartford Channel 18 Station WHCT for the proposed test.

That station will handle about 40 hours a week of selected subscription telecasting, without commercials. The remainder of its time will be devoted to conventional free TV programs.

Richard Burton Piles Up Acting Assignments

Star of Broadway's 'Camelot' Active In Recording, Television, Films

BY JINGO

If any segment of the populace knows a good thing when it sees it, it is the entertainment world and when it gets a hold on a good thing it really makes the most of it.

Jingo

Currently it appears Richard Burton is the fair haired boy of the world. If he doesn't watch out, he'll be worked to a frazzle.

His work-a-day assignment is starring in the reigning Broadway hit, "Camelot," and his "singing a la Rex "Fair Lady" Harrison is making a bid to push him into contention with the teenagers' hollers via the show's recordings

His voice plays an important part in ABC's "The Valiant Years" TV series in which he entones Sir Winston Churchill's sonorous prose.

Paramount Pictures has announced he will continue his Churchill role when they film Sir Winston's "The Early Years."

All of these assignments should be enough, but not for Burton He has signed with Screen Gems to "host" a TV series called "The Great Deception" It will relate famous hoaxes and Burton, not much of a sideliner, will star in 10 of the first year's offerings.

Burton, of course, is a top flight actor and his success is not surprising. However, Gardner McKay is making certain circles buzz. He was a most unknown, untried thespian when he signed to star in "Adventures in Paradise." The surprise comes with his success. "Adventures" is one of the few new series to catch on and it looks as though McKay has himself an annuity.

* * *

Speaking of annuities' The Three Stooges never had it so good until TV captured hordes of children for a brand new audience for them Now the zanies will star in 20th-Fox's "Snow White and the Three Stooges" and are preparing for "Pinocchio and the Three Stooges" It looks like an endless chain and then, in the dim future, there will be another new audience for the reruns, old and new.

* * *

One of the things that skyrocketed David Susskind was his TV production of "Requiem of a Heavyweight." Now he's planning a film of the present day classic, but there's no chance for a part for any actor even faintly connected with any of the TV or theater productions of the show. Susskind wants to start all over.

Jingo must correct an erroneous piece of information reported here Agnes Moorehead is not to play "Hazel" in a TV serial Shirley Booth is making the pilot, a vast improvement The pilot will be run on a Theater Guild show March 22

This Is What Hallywood make-up can do to a pretty girl such as Patricia Medina, shown in before and after poses. It took a studio make-up man 40 minutes to make Patricia into the wicked queen for "Snow White and the Three Stooges," although the story's evil potion does it in an instant. In real life the actress is Mrs. Joseph Cotten.

Nominations Made for 33rd Oscar Awards

Stars Liz Taylor, Jack Lemon Early Favorites for Honor

BY JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Liz Taylor, Jack Lemon and a family movie, "The Sundowners," rated early favorites today as Hollywood's 33rd annual Oscar derby was off and running.

For the beauteous Liz, her Academy Award nomination Monday as top actress was her fourth straight Ironically, it came in a picture—"Butterfield 8" — which she balked at doing

"It's pornographic," she once confided to a newsman But she did it—still bound to her MGM contract—and gave the John O Hara trollop a rousing portrayal

Lemmon is one of the screen's best light comedians, but it was his pathos in "The Apartment" that made him the actor to beat If the Harvard-educated Lemmon wins, he will become the first actor in Academy Award history to win both the supporting and top actor awards

Lemmon won the supporting Oscar a few years ago as Ens. Pulver in "Mr Roberts"

Other Actresses

The other top actresses nominated were Greer Garson, the Eleanor Roosevelt of "Sunrise at Campobello", Deborah Kerr, who got her sixth nomination in "The Sundowners"; Shirley MacLaine, Lemmon's girl friend of "The Apartment" and Melina Mercouri the happy-go-lucky prostitute of "Never On Sunday"

Lemmon's competition includes Burt Lancaster, the controversal revivalist of "Elmer Gantry", Britisher Trevor Howard, the honky-tonk song and dance man of "The Entertainer," and Spencer Tracy, who played Clarence Darrow in "Inherit the Wind"

Tracy's nomination was his seventh, making him the all-time champ nominee. If he wins, he will become the first actor to win three top Oscars

Unusual Film

"The Sundowners," filmed mostly in Australia, was an unusual picture for 1960 It has no sex theme, no violence

The other pictures nominated as the year's best were "The Alamo," "The Apartment," "Elmer Gantry" and "Sons and Lovers"

Shirley Jones, sweet heroine of the movies "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel," turned prostitute for "Elmer Gantry." Hollywood, which loves such a switch, has made her the favorite to win the supporting actress awards.

4 Competitors

Her competitors are British actress Glynis Johns ("The Sundowners"), Shirley Knight ("The Dark at the Top of the Stairs"), Janet Leigh ("Psycho") and British Mary Ure ("Sons and Lovers").

The Academy Awards will be presented April 17 over the combined radio and television facilities of the American Broadcasting Co and the Canadian Broadcasting Co.

President to Make Appeal for Red Cross

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Kennedy will make an appeal to the nation tonight for support of the Red Cross in its March fund drive.

The taped appeal will be carried over all radio and television networks. The American Broadcasting Company will carry the televised appeal at 6 57 p.m. CST. The National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting System will carry it during shows beginning at 9 p.m.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 to 239.10 with industrials up 1.30, rails up .40 and utilities off .10.

On average, the gain was moderate and was accompanied by considerable profit taking and switching. Huge blocks of stock were traded.

The ticker tape fell as much as 18 minutes behind transactions — the greatest lag since Feb. 29, 1956 when it was 19 minutes behind trading. The tape remained late into the afternoon. First-hour volume was 1.18 million shares.

Gains of key stocks ran from fractions to about 2 points but most gains were moderate. Among more speculative issues, advances ran to 2 or 3 points.

Impetus to Trade

Brokers attributed the rise to the fact that after weeks of struggle the market Monday was able to exceed the June rally top in the Dow Jones industrial average. This gave a green light for further advance, according to Wall Street chartists.

At the same time, increasing conviction that the steel industry was about to mount a big increase in production, stimulating the over-all economy, brought in buyers.

Chemicals, motors, electrical equipments, rails, tobaccos and some electronics joined in the advance. The tone was ragged among utilities, airlines, building materials, drugs and farm implements.

International Harvester fell more than 2 points, Lukens, Jones & Laughlin and National gained 2 points or so, Republic and U.S. Steel rose more than a point each. Union Carbide and Eastman Kodak were up a point or so. Litton Industries and Sperry Rand dropped about a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.21 to 662.65.

Corporate bonds were higher. U.S. governments declined in quiet trading.

Rothwell Says He Is Best Qualified

Says Major Problems Lie in Research, Changed Districts

Angus Rothwell, superintendent of schools in Manitowoc, listed a high regard for the office, his belief that he has the qualifications to be superintendent of public instruction in Wisconsin and the backing of many professional educators, teachers, superintendents and school board members as his primary reasons for seeking the office in the present campaign.

Now that he is committed, Rothwell says he intends to make a hard race for the position. His backing among educators, he says, stems from their professional acquaintance with him and from their fear that an unqualified person might get the job Voting in the spring primary and the run-off in April is usually considerably below the average for the fall elections.

Long Experience

Rothwell's background of administrative experience is considerably more extensive than that of any of his opponents. He has been superintendent of public schools in Superior and Manitowoc for more than eighteen years. Such work, he feels, with its concern with teacher qualifications and certification, the making and presenting of budgets, reorganization due to the attachment of rural areas, dealing with bus routes, child placement, curriculum improvements and construction of new buildings to meet the increased enrollments, duplicates on a smaller scale the work of the office of state superintendent.

Rothwell was also an elementary school principal, high school principal and curriculum director. Further administrative experience was his 2½ years as commanding officer of the Navy V-12 units at Lawrence College, Appleton, and Hobart College, New York.

Rothwell feels that the principle problems facing the new superintendent will be to help newly reorganized school districts meet their expanded responsibilities to all pupils, and sound educational research to meet the demands of our changing social and economic conditions and technological advances. He says that the requirement for all areas in the state to be part of a district operating a high school is part of the move

"Rural, village and city youth are entitled to equal educational opportunities as far as it is possible to provide those facilities essential to proper instruction.... A rural boy or girl living on a marginal farm is just as important an individual as is the child residing in the most favored community."

There should not be an arbitrary size of school established, he feels, but there should be definite standards of size and such standards difer widely in Wisconsin, where there are still forty-four high schools with less than one hundred students. He lists as some of the handicaps of the small rural school the number of grades with one teacher; lack of visual education, library facilities and special subject matter; lower standards for teachers; inadequate equipment, and the lack of opportunity for instruction in instrumental music, foreign language or kindergarten.

Rothwell feels that the state department should have a special research center for experimental investigation in the new techniques and methods such as team teaching, varying length of class periods and school camps for conservation work, all of which have been tried in Manitowoc schools while he has been superintendent. This center would be concerned with special services such as health corrective work, and instruction of the mentally retarded according to his plan.

Administrative Duties

The main work of the state superintendent, he thinks, should be concerned with the public elementary and secondary schools of the state. His position on the Board of Regents of the university and the state colleges and on the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education would be to represent the needs of the Department of Public Instruction, emphasizing that state high school graduates should have adequate chances for higher education, and helping to supply the number of qualified teachers for the public schools. He feels the presidents of the county colleges should be asked to meet to help plan the future of these institutions. Some might be abolished but some could serve as feeders to the state colleges and possibly could be attached in some way so as to raise their standards.

Rothwell emphasizes that the "duties of the office of state superintendent are clearly administrative — not legislative." This applies to the means of raising money for the schools of the state as well as laws concerning schools. "Raising the money for schools and other governmental units is clearly the responsibility of lawmakers.

However, he feels that the state superintendent "should provide full information to legislators, which is essential if sufficient funds are to become available, and should anticipate as far as possible future financial obligations of the state."

No 'Side Shows'

Rothwell strongly favors the equilization principle but also thinks there is "great disparity in the willingness and ability of school districts to provide adequate funds. It becomes the responsibility of the state superintendent of public instruction to encourage local communities to put forth their maximum effort to provide quality education for their youth and to support state-wide programs that will increase the amount of funds available to areas in greatest need."

Rothwell emphasizes that there should be quality instruction for all students — gifted, average and slow-learners — and "there can be no place in the modern public school for waste of time or major emphasis on the side-show of education." He favors a day being set for all beginning teachers to have Bachelor degrees.

He received his Bachelor's degree from Wisconsin State College at Superior and did undergraduate work at the Universities of Wisconsin and Iowa. He received his Master of Arts degree from Columbia University. He has done additional graduate work in school administration at the Universities of Minnesota and Wisconsin. After his Navy stint he received an Honorary Master of Arts degree from Lawrence.

Lists Achievements

Rothwell lists as some of the achievements in curriculum established during his superintendency, the introduction of extensive phonics and ungraded reading programs, foreign language beginning at the fourth grade, school camping, classes for trainable youngsters, special classes for gifted children and home economics courses in the junior high.

At the senior high level, Manitowoc has been participating in the Wisconsin Improvement Program, a north-south pupil exchange, and conservation programs. He has emphasized work to improve English, foreign language and mathematics programs and expanded the guidance program and classes for both gifted and slow learners. Manitowoc is also experimenting with language laboratories and closed circuit TV.

Rothwell is married to a former teacher and is the father of a son and two daughters.
